TRUDEAU AND FORD AT WORKING DINNER

(UPI)

Canada's Trudeau and Bonn's Schmidt

Ford Meets With Heads of State

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford expressed concern about Canadian oil policy during his meeting Wednesday with Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, but did not threaten retaliation.

The two leaders also agreed to leave the beef issue, the other current U.S.-Canada irritant, in the hands of officials and expressed confidence the problem of the mutual beef import quotas would be resolved soon.

"We often say in Congress," said Ford in an exchange of toasts with Trudeau, "that you can disagree without being disagreeable, and that is the way it has been in our relations in the past and I hope it will be so in the future."

Trudeau responded that because of the many similarities between Americans and Canadians, "We can talk to each other pretty candidly. We talk the same language and it is so much easier to deal with problems."

Trudeau's meeting with Ford was billed as a "working visit" and involved a minimum of pro-

col. Both leaders expressed their satisfaction with the informality, which, the prime minister said, "makes it easier to solve the small problems that arise."

The Canadian leader met today with a group of senators in a closed, informal session.

A number of U.S. senators and congressmen have recently urged retaliatory action against Canada because of its oil export tax and its policy of phasing out oil exports to the United States entirely by 1983.

Assistant Secretary of State Andrew Hartmann said at a briefing following the talks that "there was no discussion of retaliation."

He said "the Canadian prime minister gave an explanation of the policy, which the President listened to attentively, and asked questions about."

Trudeau's special assistant Ivan Head said Ford's reaction to the explanation was "very low-key, but the whole meeting was very low-key." Other matters dealt with during the meeting included Ford's recent Far East trip, the international energy situation, defense and environmental issues.

President Ford welcomed West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt to the White House today for the first in a series of sessions with allied partners about European economic and defense problems.

Ford will meet for three days late next week in Martinique with French President Giscard d'Estaing to further bolster traditional U.S. ties with European allies.

Schmidt, who arrived in Washington Wednesday, was to be formally welcomed at the White House today before sitting down with Ford and later with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Schmidt will be guest of honor at a black-tie state dinner in the evening.

Ford also planned to review his fiscal 1976 budget proposals and talk to aides about the legislative program for the 94th Congress.

Coal Miners Approve Contract, Return to Work Next Week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Striking coal miners have voted to approve a contract ending their 24-day walkout.

Arnold Miller, president of the United Mine Workers, was announced officially today that about 56 per cent of the union membership voted to ratify the three-year pact with the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

A contract signing ceremony was planned immediately afterwards.

The men who mine 70 per cent of the nation's coal are expected to be working next week with a 64 per cent raise in wages and fringe benefits.

The strike idled 120,000 miners, producing soft coal in 1,200 mines and had widely reaching economic effects. Economists estimated the walkout cost the nation $5 billion in lost production.

Several thousand crews on coal-hauling railroads were laid off. Officials of the Penn Central and the Norfolk and Western said the two railroads each lost about $5 million a week.

Coal was not shipped and coke ovens and blast furnaces were closed or slowed down.

The hardest hit steel company was U.S. Steel, which had thousands of production workers furloughed or on short weeks. Some layoffs were blamed on declining demand and it was not immediately clear when recalls would occur.

Some delays in mining are anticipated because of the need to make the long-idled mines safe, particularly from potential explosions of accumulated gases.

The voting had begun Sunday. Because of a severe snow storm in some areas, Miller extended polling time until 8 p.m. local time Wednesday. By mid-day a substantial majority of locals had reported.

As each local closed its books, tellers in the locals dialed a toll free number in Washington and the results were recorded in an office two doors away from Miller's.

Messengers delivered the arriving tallies to the union's three international tellers in a conference room. Behind closed doors, the tellers and others equipped with electric calculators and tally sheets kept running totals.

The strike began Nov. 12 when the old contract with the soft coal operators expired.

The union and the association reached an agreement the next day, but after prolonged debate among the union's regional leadership, Miller was sent back to ask for more.

An improved package was agreed upon and announced by Treasury Secretary William E. Simon Nov. 24.

The union's regional leaders met again Nov. 26 and at first voted against the improved package, then suddenly reversed and voted to send the contract to the rank-and-file for approval.

The division in the union's bargaining council also carried over into the local voting.

The pact was turned down by miners in Western Kentucky, Southern Illinois, Utah, Arizona and Wyoming but the union's third largest district, No. 31 in Fairmont, W.Va., approved it along with a number of smaller districts.

The contract provides the miners with an immediate $80 "catch-up" bonus payment, a 10 per cent pay increase this year and 4 per cent and 3 per cent in the following two years.

The miners will have for the first time a cost of living clause which will provide a penny-an-hour increase for each 0.4 rise in the government's Consumer Price Index, up to 8 per cent. For the first time, miners will get paid sick leave.

The contract will immediately increase pensions for retired miners from $150 a month to $200. Miners who retire after Jan. 1, 1976, will get substantially bigger benefits, based on length of service and retirement age.

The contract also provides for 7,000 to 8,000 new mining jobs for helpers on complex machinery.

Rockefeller Sharply Defends $30,000 Loan

WASHINGTON (UPI) —

Vice presidential nominee

Nelson A. Rockefeller today

sharply denied there was any attempt by his family to conceal a $30,000 loan to former

Republican National Chairman William E. Miller.

And, he said, there was nothing "immoral or illegal" about the loan.

"If you're implying we were not telling the truth, you're absolutely wrong," Rockefeller said in angry exchange with Rep. Robert Drinan, D-

MASS., During House Judiciary Committee Hearings on his nomination.

"I didn't remember it, my brother Laurance didn't remember it until we looked at the record — as soon as we found out about it we told you about it," Rockefeller said.

Rockefeller made a final appearance before the committee on the day after his brother Laurance revealed the 1961 loan to Miller, who was then a New York congressman. He later ran for vice president on the Goldwater ticket in 1964.

Drinan said the loan "raises a question of ethics if not of law" because Miller was a member of Congress and national Republican chairman.

"I don't see anything wrong, immoral or illegal about this loan," Rockefeller shot back.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino

hopes to wind up the hearings on the former governor with

Rockefeller's testimony today, and have the committee vote next week.

Koenig Praises Cooperation Resulting in Downtown Moves

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

One of the two developers who have submitted bids to build both 100-unit senior citizens high-rise apartments as well as a shopping plaza in downtown Kingston—The Granada Corp. of Port Ewen—has reportedly taken an option on the St. Anne property on Broadway and Orchard Street for the apartment and plans a colonial designed shopping center just below the new City Hall on Broadway.

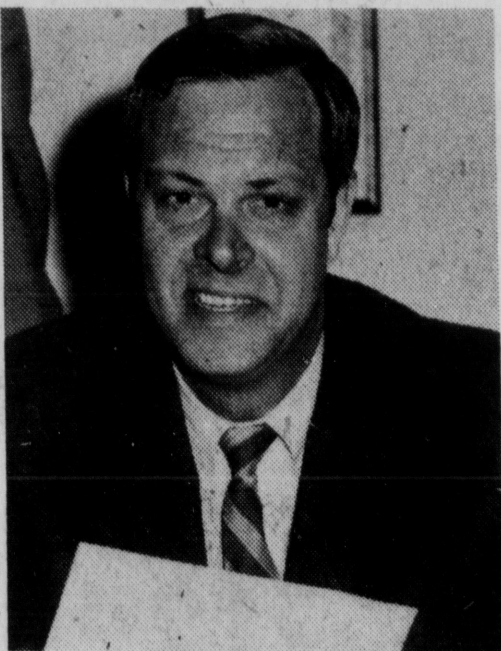

Mayor Francis R. Koenig today hailed the cooperation between his office and the Kingston Housing Authority in bringing about combination apartmentshopping plaza proposals.

The other bidder, Raddock Corp. of Freeport, L.I., has presented a plan for an 11-story high-rise on Ferry Street near the proposed new arterial and a shopping plaza at the same Broadway site advanced by Granada.

Koenig said that although he has been working for eight months with the Granada Corp. in developing a possible senior citizen-plaza package, the acceptance of bids is still subject to approval of the Housing and Urban Development Corp. Officials of HUD are in Kingston today to review the two proposals with urban renewal, city and housing authority representatives.

Koenig, visibly pleased that something will materialize in the way of restoring some of the downtown urban renewal properties to the tax rolls said, "It will change the whole outlook for downtown."

Explaining that Granada has estimated its tax bill at $60,000 to $65,000 a year, he said he is concerned because Raddock is in essence asking for a tax abatement in its proposal which asks that tax assessments be fixed at no more than $25,000 a year.

MAYOR KOENIG

He described the shopping plaza to be built as supporting 50,000 to 60,000 square-feet of stores including a 20,000 square-foot supermarket, drug store and allied stores.

A third bidder, the AGR Corp. of New Paltz, submitted plans only for an apartment at Ferry Street but failed to come up with a shopping plaza proposal and therefore is probably out of the running for an award bid.

Koenig estimates the developer's investment in the shopping plaza will run in excess of $2 million and possibly $3 million, due to constantly rising construction costs.

The selection of the successful bidder will not be announced until the plans are approved by HUD.

Nixon Offered Aides $300,000 for Fees

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Richard Nixon offered top aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman $200,000 to $300,000 for expenses if they had to resign because of Watergate, according to the transcript of a White House tape newly disclosed at the Watergate conspiracy trial.

Nixon implied the money would come in cash from a secret fund maintained by his best friend, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

The transcript showed Haldeman turned down the offer because he said it "compounds the problem, that really does."

Meanwhile, Richard M. Nixon's lawyer said today the former president will not be prepared to provide testimony for the Watergate cover-up trial by Jan. 6, even though his health may permit it.

In a three-page brief filed in U.S. District Court, attorney Herbert J. Miller said Nixon needs a substantial amount of time to prepare for questioning after he recovers from his current illness.

The offer was one of the few new disclosures or admissions that Assistant Watergate Prosecutor Richard Ben-Veniste has extracted in a strenuous cross-examination of Haldeman that went into its fourth day today.

It was made on April 17, 1973 — just following the Palm Sunday weekend when the Watergate cover-up began to unravel and White House Counsel John W. Dean III informed Nixon he was cooperating with federal prosecutors.

"Let me ask you this, uh, (pause)," Nixon said. "Legal fees will be substantial (unintelligible). It is not important, it (unintelligible) — John Dean is a lawyer (unintelligible) (tape noise) funds for, uh, basically (tape noise) there are (unintelligible). (Tape noise) But there is a way we can get it to you, and, uh, —two or three hundred thousand dollars. (Unintelligible) Huh? No, no. Now, let me tell you now. I know the problems with families and all the rest. Just let me handle it. Now how could we do it?"

"Let, let's wait and see if it's necessary, thus —that whole thing. I, I, it may not be nec— ..." Ehrlichman said.

A moment later, Nixon said: "(Unintelligible -stuttering) No strain. Doesn't come outta me. I didn't, I never intended to use the money at all. As a matter of fact, I told B-B-Bebe, uh, basically, be sure that people like, uh, —who, who have contributed money over the contributing years are, uh, favored and so forth in general. And he's used it for the purpose of getting things out, paid for in check and all that sort of thing."

According to the partial transcript of a taped conversation nine days later, Haldeman and Ehrlichman both said they didn't think they needed the cash.

The trial of five of Nixon's former top aides —former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, former Assistant Attorney General Robert C. Mardian, reelection lawyer Kenneth W. Parkinson, Haldeman and Ehrlichman —entered its 48th day today.

191 Killed as Plane Hit Like 'Great Fireball'

The Second Worst Air Disaster in History to the fog-shrouded Colombo Airport.

Tilaka de Zoysa, a planter from a tea plantation near the crash site, said the plane went directly over his head and then there was an explosion.

"It was something like an earthquake," he said. "I rushed (out) and saw the plane scattering. The whole plane was breaking into bits and it was on fire."

Another witness from a nearby village told rescue workers it was like a "giant fireball in the sky."

De Zoysa said the plane hit a wall of almost sheer rock rising 1,000 feet above the jungle on 5,140-foot-tall Laxabana Hill about 80 miles east of the capital of this island nation.

The hill is part of the Seven Virgins mountain range and the crash site was not far from the huge hydroelectric project at Laksapana. Searchers said the terrain was extremely rugged and accessible only by helicopter.

Aviation officials said there were 182 passengers aboard the plane, all but two of them pilgrims bound for Mecca, in addition to the nine crew members. A Martin Air spokesman listed the crew as two pilots, one mechanic and four stewardesses, all Dutch, and two Indonesian stewardesses. Martin Schroeder, the charter airline's president, flew with Dutch government aviation officials from the Hague to Colombo early today to investigate the crash.

Colombo is the capital of Sri Lanka, a lush, tropical island nation in the Indian Ocean off India's coast. The country used to be called Ceylon.

County Reapportionment Plan... 'A Very Stormy Passage'

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Prior to passage Monday night of a new reapportionment plan for Ulster County which will retain the 33-member County Legislature but create nine instead of eight districts, a public hearing was held with the GOP favoring its own multi-district plan and the Democrats arguing for 33-member single districts.

The GOP plan passed 21 to 12 following diverse discussion.

Former Minority Leader Roger Mabie of Esopus favored the single member districts suggesting that they offer more responsive representation. "Head-to-head confrontation makes for better politics," he said.

The present Minority Leader Dr. Gerald P. Gorman (D-City) said he did not feel that the team concept where several legislators represent a district is as workable as a one-to-one contact. "People vote for an individual, not for a team," he suggested.

"Maybe we should go back into a bi-partisan effort for single-member districts," he said, with Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago countering by saying the Democrats have "dragged their feet" in proposing a single-member district plan of its own.

Actually Mabie did draft a plan but it was withdrawn at the last minute when it was discovered to be illegal in that it was based on voter population rather than the 1970 decennial census.

Majority Leader Ernest J. Gardner (R-Dist. 5), advocating multi-districts, cited the six Democratic legislators that represent the city, saying "the people know who the six are and can call on anyone of them."

Recalling a previous referendum in which a reapportionment plan was defeated, Savago, a Dist. 8 Republican, said that of the total number of persons entering the voting booths, only 30 per cent chose to vote on the issue. "It was not defeated because it proposed multi-districts" but because of lack of interest, he charged.

Savago was alluding to a possible Democratic petition to place the reapportionment issue on the ballot in a special election which he said would cost taxpayers $75,000. Other estimates have been made in the neighborhood of $30,000 or more.

Legislator William West (R-Dist. 4) accused the Democrats of "trying to create a power unit and run the county."

Louis M. Klein (D-Dist. 6) favored the single-member districts which he said are long overdue, using Shawangunk as an example of being a town without one of its residents on the legislative board.

Gardiner Supervisor George Majestic, in particular, fought a move on the part of the county board to prevent town supervisors and officials from serving simultaneously on the legislature.

Majestic argued that the old Board of Supervisors which allowed its members to serve in a dual capacity, representing their towns as well as the county "did a better job because they were closer to the people."

Legislator Savago reminded Majestic that the supervisor had gone to the Court of Appeals many times and lost his case for dual legislative roles.

Dr. Gorman asked Majestic if he favored abolishing the legislature and reverting to the old Board of Supervisors?

Majestic suggested that it was a matter for the people to decide.

Legislator Lewis C. Kirschner (D-Dist. 6) said he felt the legislature "is doing a good job and asked Majestic if he had the time to serve both as a supervisor and a legislator?

"Yes, I do," Majestic replied.

Pride of County Award to Onteora Band

The Ulster County Legislature's Pride of Ulster County Award was presented to the Onteora High School Marching Band in recent ceremonies in the executive chambers of the legislature. The band, which has distinguished itself in numerous competitions, recently won the Arlington High School Invitational Band Festival at Freedom Plains. It will perform at halftime Sunday at Shea Stadium during the New York Jets-Bu New

I NEVER REALIZED FREEDOM OF CHOICE WAS A CONTROVERSIAL ISSUE!

Freedom of choice and freedom of speech are the corner stones on which our country was built. There are other freedoms too. Freedom to go and come as you want. Freedom to choose your life style. Freedom to buy what you want from whom you please.

Freedom to succeed or fail in business. Freedom to advertise your products or service in a free competitive market place. Freedom to compete with others.

There are those who would take away these and other freedoms. They say it would be for the "public" good. But, how can it be "good" if your freedom of choice in the market place is taken away by administrative action.

Products and services that are freely advertised offer you the opportunity of making your own individual choice. But, without advertising, how are you going to know the benefits of one product or service over the competition. Think about that.

Think how advertising provides you with freedom of choice. Do you really want this freedom taken away?

WHO NEEDS ADVERTISING? YOU DO!

Hughes Ordered to Pay Damages

Billionaire industrialist Howard Hughes (L) was ordered Wednesday to pay $2.8-million damages to his former chief lieutenant, Robert A. Maheu, for publicly calling Maheu "a no good dishonest son of a bitch." The amount was fixed by a federal court jury which previously has found Hughes defamed the character of the one-time head of his Las Vegas empire who was fired four years ago today. (UPI)

Fragile Compromise Mood Hovers Over Democrats

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — A fragile mood of compromise hovered over the advance party of Democrats working on a final draft of a party charter for adoption at their off-year convention this weekend.

The test for the 52-member Rules and Amendments Committee comes when it takes up the volatile question of "affirmative action" — rules aimed at assuring women, young people and minorities a full chance to take part in Democratic affairs — without quotas.

The 2,035 conference delegates will act on the charter Saturday. The affirmative action issue threatened at one time to make the mid-term conference another of the donnybrooks that have scarred the party since 1968.

But the party scored heavily in the Nov. 5 elections, and feuding reformers and party regulars edged toward a compromise advanced by the Democratic governors' conference at Hilton Head, S.C.

The proposal is the same as rules already adopted for the 1976 Democratic National Convention. It has been endorsed by the party establishment and groups of black and women activists. Partial returns from a poll of state Democratic chairmen showed 28 in favor and only two opposed to the plan.

Another hot issue at the miniconvention is a move to end "winner take all" primaries and caucuses. Under a compromise proposal, all major candidates would get a share of delegates proportional to their support among a state's Democrats.

Party leaders will also ask the conference to adopt a party position on how to deal with the nation's economic problems.

N.Y. Milk Shipments Halted

NEW YORK (UPI) — Deliveries and plant workers struck 115 metropolitan area milk companies late Wednesday, halting most local milk shipments in the metropolitan area today.

About 2,700 represented by Teamsters Local 584 voted by about a 10-1 ratio to turn down a proposed two-year contract. The union leadership had recommended that the pact be rejected.

While the rank and file voted on the proposed contract, many consumers began hoarding dairy products, and some grocery stores placed limits on milk sales per customer.

A management spokesman said his group had offered a two-year contract with increases of $10 and $20 a week respectively for commissioned deliverymen, who now earn $330 weekly, and $30 and $20 a week increases for plant workers, now earning between $216 and $240 a week.

The old contract expired Nov. 14.

No Nixon Data For at Least a Month

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — Richard Nixon's health is improving enough for "a gradual increase in limited activity," but the former president is still too sick to give testimony for use at the Watergate trial for at least a month, his doctor said Wednesday.

Nixon, leaving his estate for the first time since he was released from a hospital almost three weeks ago, went to a Marine Corps hospital on nearby Camp Pendleton for a checkup by Dr. Eldon B. Hickman.

Hickman, who operated on Nixon Oct. 29, said the 61-year-old former president "is making satisfactory progress, although he clearly remains in a period of convalescence. Mr. Nixon has not regained his normal weight and tires easily."

Hickman said "I have advised gradual increase in limited activity," but "because he (Nixon) is still in a period of convalescence, requiring controlled activity and monitoring, I see no medical indication to advise at this time any change in the estimated period of disability and avoidance of stressful activity...."

He echoed the conclusion last week by a team of Watergate court doctors that Nixon will not be up to the strain of even a written deposition until Jan. 6, and could not travel to Washington to testify until at least Feb. 16.

U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica appointed the three-man team of distinguished physicians to check on the statement by Nixon's doctors that the former president was too ill to respond to a subpoena to testify at the cover-up trial of his top former aides.

Even Friends Say Mills to Lose Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Even his close friends in the House of Representatives say Wilbur Mills is certain to be ousted as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

Mills, 65, was in Bethesda Naval Hospital today, listed in satisfactory condition. Rep. Joe Waggoner, D-La., described the patient: "He is under heavy sedation, undergoing medical treatment and tests. He is not allowed to have visitors or calls."

House Speaker Carl Albert told reporters Wednesday, "He is in my opinion a sick man."

Asked if it was fair to say that Mills would no longer head the committee, which writes the nation's tax, trade, social security and health insurance laws, he replied "I think that's a pretty accurate statement."

What changed everything was Mills' appearance on stage last weekend with Annabel Battistella, 38, now billed as Fanne Fox, the Tidal Basin Bombshell.

It was a surprise, for Mills had normally been considered sort of a homebody who stayed up late at night reading treatises on tax law.

The simple fact that a member of Congress has been involved with a stripper is not exactly historic. Old timers are making comparisons with the colorful Sen. Earl Long, D-La. It didn't change the votes of the folks back home in Arkansas who returned Mills to his 18th term.

But congressmen do not usually stand on the stages of burlesque theaters, as Mills did in Boston, saying "I'm going to make a movie star out of her."

He later demanded that reporters "stop those insinuations" that he was having an affair. This all happened Sunday, the day before the Democratic Caucus met.

His colleagues felt Mills should have been back in Washington, lining up votes.

The caucus voted 146 to 122 to take away his committee's power to assign congressmen to other committees, and in a final indignity, they increased Ways and Means from 25 to 37 members.

On Tuesday, Mills could not serve as floor manager of the trade bill. "I'm exhausted," he said.

In New York, Miss Fox, who first drew public notice when she jumped from Mills' car into the Tidal Basin in Washington Oct. 7, broke off her engagement at a burlesque theater, saying she had to visit Mills.

At Mills' side was his wife Polly. In a statement issued through his office, she said:

"The doctors have been urging Wilbur to enter the hospital for a complete examination for some time, and I have been urging him to do so. I do not know how long he will be required to be in the hospital, but I will be with him daily."

Ford Marching to Own Drum

By HELEN THOMAS
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford is upbeat about the economy and the state of the union. Others are not so sure.

Never before has it seemed that a President was marching so much to his own drum.

On Capitol Hill, dire warnings are sounded. Some of Ford's best congressional cronies are urging action now. They suggest firing the entire holdover Nixon Cabinet, with the possible exception of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, or on't want to y Kissinger, or other presidential orders which would give Ford at least the outward semblance of taking charge in a crisis. The editorial writers, the columnists and the cartoonists have evoked the image of the great depression, and all the pain that it entails.

The message is clear — the nation is crying for leadership from the White House.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Ford's fellow conservative Republican tells him to park Air Force One in the hangar for the next eight months and concentrate on the "real problems" at home. Goldwater is not happy with the Vladivostok nuclear arms agreement with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, and he does not cotton to Ford's projected late 1975 visit to China.

Other critics believe that Ford has failed to grasp the unique situation of a recessioninflation economy and moreover does not have any solutions.

For the old timers, the past

Washington Window

is present. If history repeats itself, they feel the growing ranks of the unemployed bode ill for the future.

The President's successful negotiations with Brezhnev during his first adventure in global diplomacy gave him credentials every national leader needs. But at the same time, there is a turning inward by people concerned more with their daily well being than detente — at the moment at least.

For the President's part, it's clear that he does not buy the gloomy view of the world, and is not ready to go along with those who think drastic action is in order.

He has said no, almost never, to wage-price and rent controls. He sees no need for rationing.

And while he believes FDR's rallying cry: "There is nothing to fear but fear itself" is worthy remembering, he does not believe the American people have reached that desperate state ... evoking memories of bread lines and selling apples on street corners.

He feels that the country and its ability to meet the problems is being sold short. "I do what to say to my fellow countrymen that our greatest danger today is to fall victim to the more exaggerated alarms that are being generated by the underlying health and strength of our economy," he told a news conference Monday.

"We are going to take some lumps and bumps, but with the help of Congress and the American people we are perfectly able to cope with our present and foreseeable economic problems," he added.

Hope for Downtown

There is again a spark of hope that downtown Kingston may undergo the revitalization that we've waited for so long. Three bids have been received by the Kingston Housing Authority to build senior citizen housing in the downtown area. One bidder, Granada Buildings, Inc. has proposed to erect a six-story high rise on the St. Anne's property on Broadway, with the attendant construction of a shopping complex in Broadway East across from City Hall.

Raddock Corp. of Freeport, L.I., will also construct a shopping plaza at Broadway East and build an 11-story building at Ferry Street to accommodate senior citizens. Both plans, at this stage, seem attractive and in line with Mayor Koenig's long quest to get adequate shopping facilities in the downtown area. The proposal submitted by a third bidder, AGR Corporation of New Paltz, makes no provision for a shopping complex.

These bids will now be studied by the Housing Authority before making its recommendation to the Housing and Urban Development Corporation in Washington for the needed federal funds. It took a long time in coming but perhaps this will be the first step toward restoring downtown Kingston.

Nixon Testimony Dilemma

Pertinent medical opinion is that Richard M. Nixon's earliest possible role in the Watergate coverup trial could be the giving of a deposition at his California home no sooner than January 6. The court-appointed doctors conclude that the former president might be able to testify in a courtroom near his home by February 2, or in Washington a couple of weeks later.

It would be surprising if U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica were to reject the findings of the medical panel he appointed. For practical purposes, then the question now is whether the trial should be extended so as to incorporate Nixon's testimony. The only alternative that presents itself is dismissal of the subpoena requiring him to testify.

The subpoena was issued in behalf of one of the defendants, John D. Ehrlichman, whose lawyer has said in open court that Nixon's testimony "is absolutely essential to our defense." Some of the other defendants also seek to put Nixon's responses on the trial record.

Defense lawyers have requested a Christmas recess and reconvening of the trial in January after the taking of a Nixon deposition or videotaping of his answers to questions. This course poses severe difficulty, however, because the jury has been sequestered since October 11. Fairness to jurors argues for winding up the trial as soon as possible, and in addition there is the problem of continuing to keep them isolated from outside influence during the recess. Judge Sirica clearly faces one of the hardest of the many hard decisions circumstances have required of him during his long involvement as presiding judge in cases arising out of Watergate.

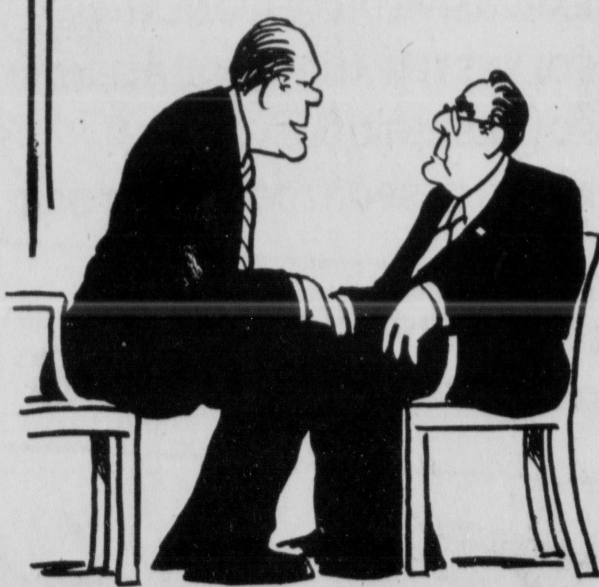

The Wolf Lobby Speaks

Men and women in public life must be ever alert to implications of what they say and do. This applies in spades to presidents—as the incumbent found when fifth graders at Gompers School in Madison, Wis., learned that Mr. Ford wore a wolfskin parka when he visited Siberia.

Wolfskin! Just when the kids had been learning that wolves are among animal species endangered by man's activities, which include shooting wolves for their skins. All this inspired letters from the pupils to President Ford, one of which featured this trenchant passage: "You are no stupid dumbbell who shoots wolves. But other people may think of you that way. Quit buying skins from animals." We can hardly wait to hear the official White House response.

"I was going to give you another car for your collection, but auto sales are down. How'd you like to BUY one?"

By JACK ANDERSON

SEOUL—I flew to South Korea on a Christmas mission to seek the release of 12 religious leaders who have been jailed for antigovernment activities. President Park Chung Hee agreed, after a two-hour discussion to give my appeal "careful consideration."

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Clemency Mission to South Korea

I came here at the urging of Christian leaders who asked me to make a personal appeal to the tough South Korean leader for clemency. They explained that I am well-known in Korea. Therefore, they thought I might have some impact on President Park. He listened attentively to my case for clemency, frequently nodding his head affirmatively.

He stressed that the imprisoned Christians had not been arrested for criticizing the government but for violating the law. Many vocal critics openly denounce his regime, he said, yet they "are not sent to jail."

Only those who violated the law, meaning emergency security measures, were arrested, he said. He had to weigh my plea for clemency, he explained, with his duty to enforce the law and to protect his country from subversion.

Opponents charge that the emergency measures were imposed for the sole purpose of stifling dissent. President Park vigorously denies this and swears his devotion to democracy.

As evidence that he is confronted with a grave national emergency, he cited an alarming North Korean military build-up, the discovery of an infiltration tunnel under the demilitarized zone, almost daily incidents along the truce line and acts of subversion within his country.

He has been marked for assassination himself by the North Koreans. In 1968, a team of North Korean commandos slipped across the buffer zone and into the outskirts of Seoul in an unsuccessful attempt to attack his official residence. Only three months ago, an assassin fired a volley of shots at him and succeeded in killing his wife.

The South Korean leader's aides showed me documentary evidence of the threat against their country. Across the 38th Parallel, North Korea has been massing men and weapons for a possible resumption of the Korean War. A total of 813 fortified gun positions have been spotted inside the North Korean half of the demilitarized zone in outright violation of the truce agreement. Some of the larger guns could bombard Seoul itself.

The propaganda is designed to support an underground effort to overthrow the Park regime and replace it with a government that would be acceptable to North Korea. Then, the Communists promised to work for a "peaceful unification" of Korea. Whether the North Koreans achieve unification by peaceful or military means, of course, they will settle for nothing less than a Communist-controlled Korea.

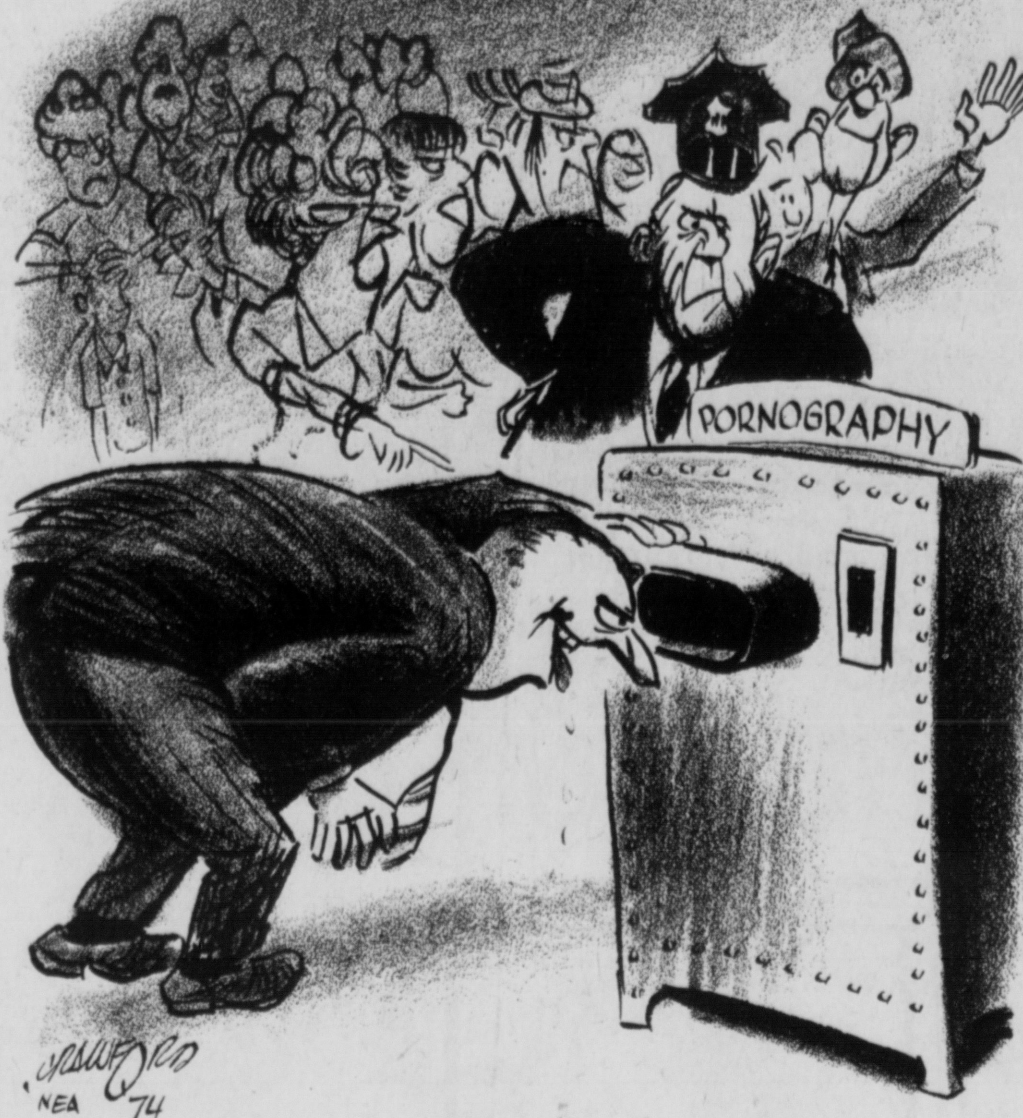

Korean religious leaders have assured me that the jailed Christians are anti-Communist but, admittedly, also anti-Park. It is also admitted that they violated the emergency laws, subsequently suspended, by participating in anti-Park agitation.

The Christian activists contend that Park has turned South Korea into a dictatorship and that they are fighting for elementary freedom. One of South Korea's most respected clerics, the Rev. Kimm Joon Goo, President of the Korean Campus Crusades for Christ, told me earnestly: "I pray that somehow the imprisoned religious leaders will be released."

He conceded, nevertheless, that the church has far more freedom in South than in North Korea. "In the United States," he said, "you have 100 per cent religious freedom. In South Korea, we have 80 per cent religious freedom. In North Korea, they have zero percentage."

The majority of Korean Christians, he said, agree that the church must side with the oppressed but believe it must keep out of politics. It is difficult, he admitted, "to draw the line between religious action and political action." But he said the majority would draw the line at violence.

The Great National Whatzit

NEA 74

By William F. Buckley

People who write newspaper columns are also people, and that is a great, but unexpungeable, distraction. It is sometimes useful to be a people, in addition to a newspaper columnist—there is no other way, for instance, to have a family, or to drink good wine, or engage avocationally in other practices than writing a column. But let me, just this one time, share my problems with you as a fellow people, giving four examples.

1. A fortnight ago, a tape was played at the Watergate trial. The voice of President Nixon came in loud and clear, talking to Haldeman, discussing clemency for Howard Hunt. He said: "We'll build, we'll build that son-of-a-bitch up, like nobody's business. We'll have Buckley write a column and say, you know, that he, that he should have clemency."

Within a very few minutes, my office reached me at the airport en route to Boston. The newspapers had begun to call in, asking the obvious question: Was Mr. Buckley approached? Does he have any comment? I dictated over the telephone two sentences that were then given by my office to the New York Post, the New York Times, and the Associated Press: "At no time did any member of the Nixon Administration approach me. Besides, I don't need to be reminded to write columns urging clemency even for sons-of-bitches, as Mr. Nixon has every reason to know from personal experience."

The next morning, the charge was carried very conspicuously in the Boston Globe—together with my retort. Which I also saw in the New York papers and in Time Magazine. Notwithstanding, I have received much mail asking why I was silent on the subject raised at the Watergate trial. And two large newspapers have carried letters by readers suggesting that I have been an appendage of the Nixon Administration—without any comment from the editor, bringing to the writer's attention my brief reply. One more example of the difficulty of catching up with a misleading story.

On the Right

Columnists Are People

2. A month ago, I wrote a column on the a now famous Goldberg book by Victor Lasky, in which I expressed the view—having now read the book—that although it was of course hostile to Justice Goldberg, it was far from being libelous. I remarked that the only distortion in it was Lasky's statement that Mr. Goldberg was the worst public speaker in the State of New York, since in fact he was the worst in the country. I received a letter from a journalist who covered the campaign advising me that it was going the rounds of the boys in the bus towards the end, that "if Goldberg gives one more speech, Rockefeller will carry Canada." Mr. Goldberg called me on the telephone and was extremely amiable, and made no criticism of the book, merely of its provenance.

3. Maybe four or five times a year, I am greatly struck by an article or analysis published in National Review. Now I am the editor-in-chief of National Review, and its sole owner. So when I mention the article, I give the name of the author—but leave out the name of the magazine where the article was published, lest it should appear that I am attempting to advertise my impecunious but magnificent journal (150 East 35th Street, New York 10016—$12 per year). Then I get mail asking me how could I have been so sloppy as to fail to give the name of the journal where the article I wrote about appeared.

Finally, 4), there is no way to avoid writing, occasionally, about the doings and sayings of James Lane Buckley. How should I identify him? As "My brother the senator"? That has the obvious disadvantage of calling attention to myself, and the less obvious disadvantage of snuggling up against the cognate cliché, "my son the doctor." So, I resolved to refer to him as "the sainted junior senator from New York." Hyperbole is a form of self-effacement; but I still get a letter or two, complaining. These I answer by expressing great surprise that the reader is unaware of the beatific character of the junior senator from New York. But then, now, you share my problems this one time, and I shan't ask you soon again to share them. Many thanks.

Nicholas Von Hoffman:

Arab Investments Would Help the U.S.

WASHINGTON—It would be rash to say it has never happened before, but it is out of the ordinary for a high government official to appear before a Congressional committee to advocate a plan he freely admits will stimulate unemployment. The conventional wisdom, both around the kitchen table and at the Treasury Department, has been that it is better to eat than not to eat; but Dr. Arthur Burns, the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, has recently testified that there are more important values for Americans.

"The highly respected" Dr. Burns, as we so often denominate him in the public prints, has proposed an "austerity policy" under which gasoline would be heavily taxed or, failing that, rationed. He concedes that the immediate result would be to encourage a lot more people not to buy a lot more cars than they are not buying now. His plan would also do wonderfully depressing things for tourism, motels and any other automobile dependent industry you care to think of. As a final bonus, he anticipates it would put a new, additional drag on the not exactly booming construction business.

The wild hair that's itching the chairman is the money the oil-producing countries stand to make unless he can force their prices down, something he is apparently willing to try at the cost of keeping 100,000 automobile workers on the dole. That's what he means when he tells the Congress in heavy, admonitory tones about "a massive redistribution of economic and political power among the countries of the world."

These aren't Communist countries that he's worried will benefit from the redistribution, which, by the bye, is anything but massive if compared to the gross national products of the major non-Communist nations. Seventy-seven per cent of our oil imports come, in descending order of volume, from Canada, Nigeria, Iran, Venezuela and Saudi Arabia. Not counting Canada, two of these nations are monarchies, while, when last heard from, neither Venezuela nor Nigeria had signed up with Moscow.

Nevertheless, if the chairman is so worried about what our trading partners do with their money, we could consider inviting them to invest it here. That won't do either. Mr. Burns is also proposing a prohibition against the oil-exporting countries buying into what he terms "strategic industries or enterprises," although he makes no objection to their investing in firms like Coca-Cola or Quaker Oats.

This may explain why a recent offer by the First Arabian Corporation to buy into Lockheed was turned down. But it's incomprehensible. You'd think Washington would be delighted to unload that turkey on the Arabs, if they're dumb enough to buy it. You might also imagine Washington would be enticing the oil exporters to buy into any and every U.S. corporation.

Instead, we've frightened them so badly with declarations like Dr. Burns' that they won't put any long-term money in here for fear we'll freeze their assets. A few weeks ago the Saudis literally crated their gold, which was being stored in the vaults of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, put it on a ship and took it off somewhere.

What Dr. Burns, Secretary of the Interior Morton and the other gentlemen who wish to sacrifice American workers' prosperity for an anachronistic Gilbert & Sullivan-like imperialism would do well to understand is that the world changes. Destroying the free market here and abroad isn't going to make the relative economic positions of the different nations remain static; but if Dr. Burns tries, he will put a lot of innocent people out of work.

'It's Working'

Ulster County United Way, with 17 member agencies depending on it for funds to operate in 1975, is well ahead of last year's fund-raising drive and within striking distance of its goal, according to figures released Wednesday.

The drive is within 89 per cent of its $405,800 goal for this year. As of Wednesday morning the drive had gathered $364,939.

Mark Kachigian, chairman of this year's United Way drive, pointed out that last year at this point in the campaign only $283,092 had been collected.

The campaign is also in a good position to reach its goal. Kachigian said that with only 11 per cent of the goal total to be collected, 26 per cent of the drive's account cards were still out.

He said a special windup organization was being developed, for a final push to put this year's drive over the top. Kachigian said "every attempt" would be made to complete the drive by Christmas.

"The residents of the county are responding," he said. "It was a prime aim of this year's campaign to reach more people so that everyone could participate."

"It is essential that we accomplish our goal," said

Kachigian, "because the $405,800 represents the minimum need of our 17 member agencies to continue to serve Ulster County in 1975."

With the campaign still in operation, a number of its areas of contribution are already over their assigned goals. Among those groups over their assigned 1974 goal are two of the three industrial groups, one of the four Kingston retail groups, the bank group, the towns of Woodstock and Esopus, the employees of United Way, and the county employees, Kachigian said.

Last year, with the county's and the country's economy in much better health, the United Way drive in Ulster County fell short. This year it shows every sign of success.

United Way officials cite three main reasons why this year's campaign, facing an uphill national economic situation, is doing so well.

They say the campaign this year has the benefit of "loaned executives" from a number of larger area firms, such as IBM, New York Telephone, Hercules, Rotron, Central Hudson, and from the Kingston Area Financial Council. These executives have contributed their skills directly through United Way this year.

In addition, an increased number of employee meetings, and improved presentation techniques such as an "instant theater projector," have been used in the 1974 drive to better get the United Way message across.

Also, they said more firms and organizations were providing for payroll deductions for United Way contributions, thus facilitating employee giving.

Job Development Authority Slates $210,000 to Rotron

By JON POWERS

WOODSTOCK

Rotron, Inc., Ulster County's second largest employer, will accept a $210,000 loan from the New York Job Development Authority Friday for construction of a new 24,000 square foot plant on a 120-acre tract the firm owns in Woodstock.

The loan, obtained through the Kingston Area Industrial Development Corp., will be closed at 9 a.m. Friday in the office of the Ulster County Chamber of Commerce.

The total cost of Rotron's new construction project is estimated at $849,141. Additional financing will be provided through the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Rotron officials have estimated that an additional 100 employees will be hired after a year of operation in the new plant. At present, the firm employs some 1,000 persons in facilities at Woodstock and nearby Ashokan.

The New York Job Development Authority grants low cost, long term second mortgage loans to local non-profit industrial development corporations to assist in the construction of new plants and the expansion or rehabilitation of existing facilities in amounts up to 40 per cent of the cost of land and buildings.

The JDA loan to Rotron represents about 24 per cent of the total cost of the firm's expansion project.

The loan was obtained through the Kingston Area Industrial Development Corp., a non-profit organization formed in 1971 to help local businesses obtain state funds for expansion programs. The corporation acts only as a liaison between local firms and state agencies; ultimate approval of any loan application must come from the state.

This year, the JDA approved loans totaling some $808,500 throughout New York State. Of that total, $336,000 was channeled to Ulster County through the efforts of the local industrial development corporation.

In addition to the $210,000 loan to Rotron, the JDA has approved a $66,000 loan to Jay Steel Products, Inc. for construction of its 12,000 square foot plant on the Sawkill Road. A $51,000 loan was made earlier to Wonderly Company on Kingston.

Since it was revived in 1971, the Kingston Area Industrial Development Corp. has centered its efforts on obtaining funds for existing businesses in Ulster County that intend to expand or enlarge. But the corporation may also seek state loans for new firms that express an interest in building in Ulster County.

Rotron manufactures air moving devices and systems for the electronics and computer industries. It has a workforce second only to IBM in Ulster County.

For the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1974, Rotron had a net income of $1,293,000 on earnings of $27,897,008. For the three month period which ended Sept. 30, 1974, the company had net earnings of $310,000.

At present, a merger of Rotron, Inc. into a subsidiary of EG & G, Inc. of Bedford, Mass., is being contemplated. Approval of the proposed merger must come from the Board of Directors of both companies, as well as the Rotron stockholders and the Internal Revenue Service. The two boards are expected to meet later this month to further discuss the proposed merger.

Expected to attend Friday's loan closing at the Chamber office on Albany Avenue are Charles J. Lawson Jr., president and chief executive officer of Rotron; O.A. Vanden Dooren, vice-president and secretary of Rotron; Harry Kaprelian, president of the Kingston Area Industrial Development Corp.; Len Cane, secretary of the corporation and executive vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce; William A. O'Neill, general counsel of the JDA and Walter Halpern, senior business consultant with the Kingston Regional Office of the New York State Department of Commerce.

Ordered to Respond

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Manhattan woman today was ordered to appear in court to respond to claims she has made illegal solicitations for a proposed Ulster County animal sanctuary, Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz announced.

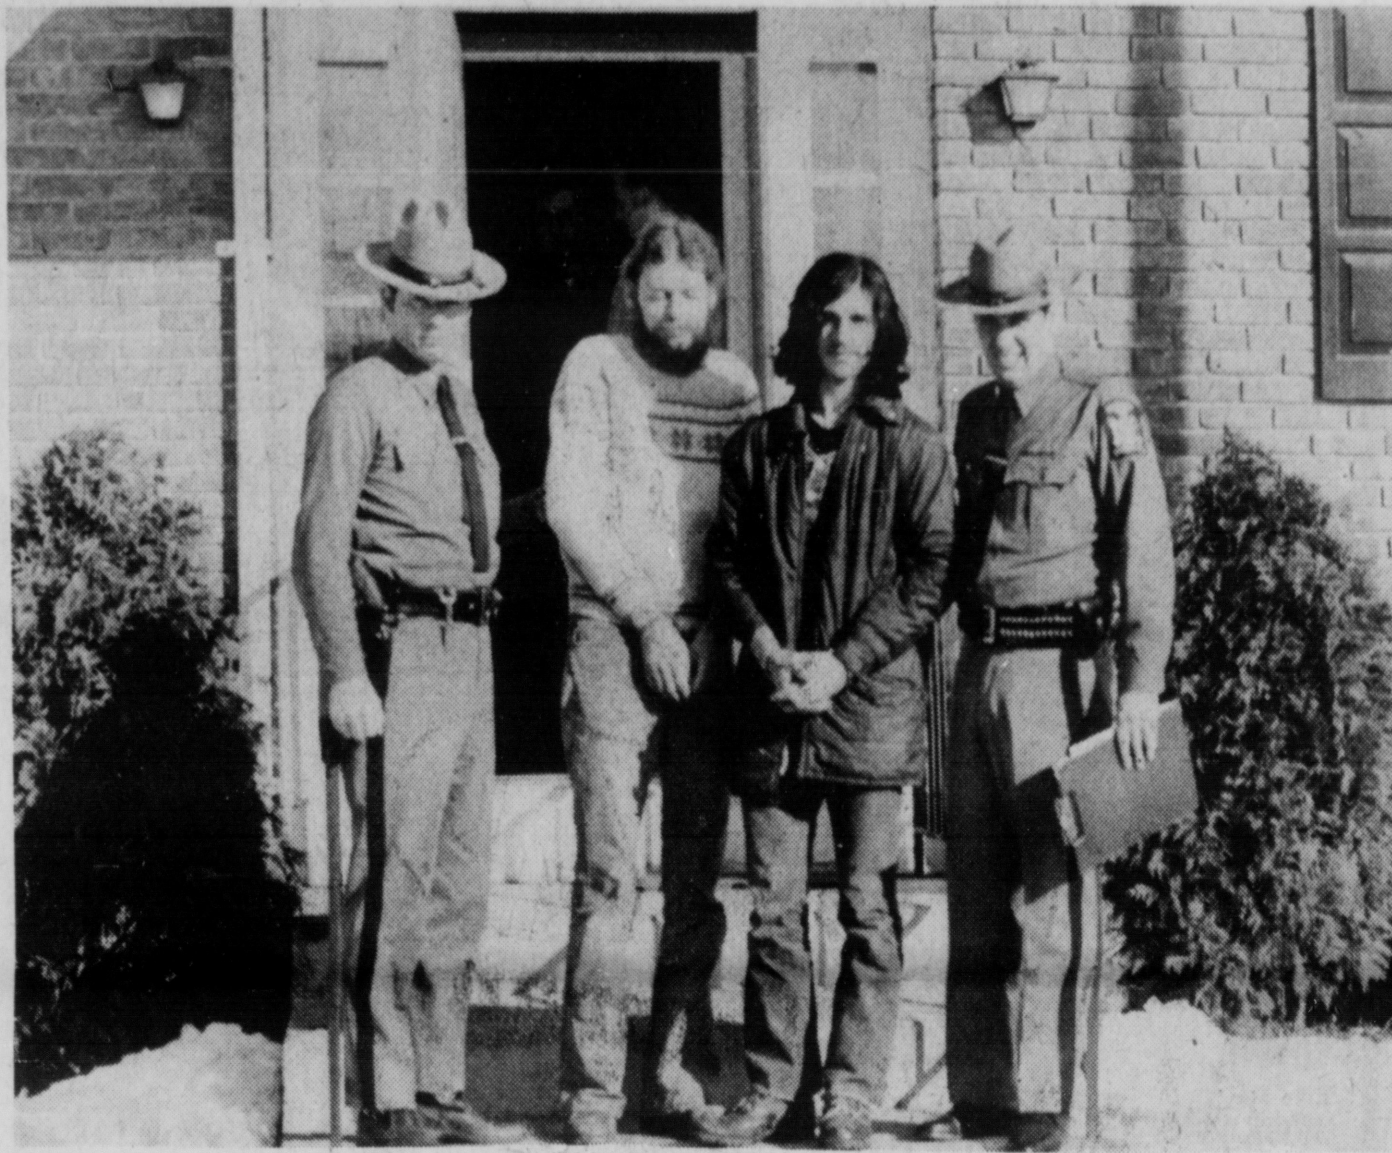

The woman, Jacquie Collins, was ordered to appear in State Supreme Court in Manhattan Dec. 13 to show why she should not be prevented from making further solicitation of funds, Lefkowitz said.

The contributions, amounting to more than $9,000, were received as a result of two television newscasts in early June in which Miss Collins used the name "Animal Defense League" in raising funds for the sanctuary. She allegedly said the contributions would be tax exempt.

Lefkowitz said Miss Collins never had a contract to purchase the property for the sanctuary and that her organization—consisting only of herself—has neither tax exemption nor was it registered with any New York State agency.

Lefkowitz said that Miss Collins used a $1,000 donation for her own use after returning it to the donor for a check issued in her name.

The sum of $9,884.86 in contributions is being held in a special escrow fund pending final determination by the Court of Lefkowitz' motion for full restitution to the donors.

On the Way to Arraignment

Highland Troopers John Fiscoe (L) and Stanley Roberts lead suspects in the Wednesday morning burglary at the home and office of a vacationing Port Ewen dentist to arraignment in Esopus Town Court. Bail on George Longendyke (L), 23, of Sleightsburg, and Albert Latorre Jr., 20, of New Salem, was placed at $100,000 each. The pair allegedly caused tens of thousands of dollars in damage at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. William Harris. (Freeman photo)

Tragedy in Dutchess

POUGHKEEPSIE

A mother and her infant son died early today when fire raced through their apartment in the Town of Poughkeepsie in Dutchess County.

Killed in the blaze were Patricia Litwinenko, 26, and her 11-month-old son, Ivan.

Arlington firemen were called to the scene at the Ridgefield Apartments, Jackman Drive, shortly before 12:30 a.m.

The Town of Poughkeepsie police officers attempted to enter the burning apartment but were driven back by intense heat and flames. Firemen were able to gain entry to the apartment and remove the mother and her infant son. Both, however, were pronounced dead on arrival at area hospitals from apparent smoke inhalation.

The mother was found slumped over the bathtub into which water was running. The infant was found in his crib in the bedroom of the apartment, authorities said.

The father was reportedly in the Dutchess County jail at the time of the fire.

Authorities said they believe the fire started in the living room couch. The blaze was confined to the one apartment.

More than 70 firemen and seven pieces of equipment were at the scene throughout much of the early morning hours.

Students' Woodstock Report Calls For Alternative Sewer Plans

WOODSTOCK

A 700-page report issued by University of Pennsylvania students on land use planning in the Town of Woodstock contains, among numerous other things, a call for alternative methods of sewerage disposal to the full scale system.

Just received by town officials, the report also touches on proposals on zoning, water pollution, housing, subdivision regulations, traffic congestions, and open space easements.

On sewerage, the report said that, in students' opinion, the sewerage system proposed by the town this year (which was firmly opposed in a townwide referendum) "may result in serious and irreversible environmental, economic, and social impacts."

It called for improvement and maintenance of the existing method of disposal (septic systems, for the most part) with investigation into new onsite disposal methods, also recommending resident participation in additional research necessary to determine the most satisfactory solution to the problem.

The report, made public this week, is the result of five months of study by a team of students as a master's thesis project for the Department of Landscape Architecture and Regional Planning, Graduate School of Fine Arts, U. of Pennsylvania. It was sponsored by the town and the Massachusetts Audubon Society.

They will be used as resource material by several town organizations, explained Supervisor Vern May, and copies for perusal will be available at the town hall and Woodstock Library. Two copies will be available to check out of the library, and a limited number of individual copies can be bought for $13 each.

On other town issues the report summarized: "Water pollution in the hamlet requires prompt remedial action."

Housing—"There is a definite need for additional housing for low and middle incomes in town." The report concluded that mobile home parks be allowed in "appropriate areas" of the town.

When questioned on this item, Supervisor May admitted the chances of this happening are slim, as no one seems to want a mobile home park near his property. The results of a survey of town opinion confirmed this, as only about four per cent of those asked were in favor of allowing mobile homes to become established.

May said, however, that the town board would "encourage" low and middle income housing construction, stating as his opinion that private contractors could accomplish this with reasonable profit.

The report also asked for open space easement acquisition along the areas of greatest scenic and ecological benefit, something the board seemed eager to pursue.

This basically would be paying a nominal fee to landowners from the town to keep their valuable scenic resource, such as a mountainside or stream property, free of marring construction.

On traffic—the report termed the intersection of Route 212 and Rock City Road the site of "major congestion," and recommended that on-street parking be prohibited within 250 feet of that intersection. It also called for more parking space in the hamlet.

General recommendations for zoning are to revise the law to prohibit development in areas of frequent flood hazard, soil instability, and within 100 feet of streams; discourage development on steep slopes, where there is poor drainage; and within 300 feet of streams; and to encourage development on gentle slopes and near the hamlets. It also outlined recommended procedures for doing this.

Regarding subdivisions—The suggestions were based on supplementing Planning Board review with development of impact assessment procedures, with resulting specific standards to be applied in accordance with such procedures.

It asked that the town adopt separate ordinances requiring compliance with the following environmental performance standards: stormwater runoff; erosion and sedimentation; on-site sewerage disposal.

And the students' report suggested the town enter into a "memorandum of understanding" with the Soil Conservation Service in Kingston for expert help in determining the surface water runoff and erosion impacts of land proposals.

Christmas Shopping... Economy Changes Habits

By TIM SCHUSTER

KINGSTON

Most Christmas shoppers we spoke with on a recent sunny December day were using one means or another to economize in the face of rising retail prices.

It was hardly the picture one would conjure up to describe a Depression, as parking lots at all department stores and malls were filled nearly to capacity in Kingston and the Town of Ulster.

We asked about 20 people at various locations whether inflation had changed their holiday shopping habits this year, and if so, how?

The thrifty old habit of "shopping around" to compare prices surfaced as the one method most frequently in use, but there were many others.

Mrs. Olive Ribstein of Pine Hill said that she had done a lot of shopping through catalogs this year, saving travel expense. Her friend June Bennett of Lomontville said she had made a large shopping trip to New Jersey, where the lack of a sales tax gave her the break in prices she was looking for.

Albert Arnold and his wife from Phoenicia said that they had anticipated the rise in prices and had "started early this year," taking their time, and also tried different stores. "That's what we're doing now," she said. Cutting down a little was another answer.

Walter Baker and his wife Dorothy of Maplecrest, in the Catskills, said they were looking around more. "We have 15 grandchildren," said Mrs. Baker. "We'll just have to pay what's necessary."

Jack Smith of Kingston commented that he just started out with less money than he was used to working with, and had to plan ahead. Besides careful budgeting, he was "even making some presents this year."

A resident of Copake, near the Massachusetts border, had traveled all the way to Kingston to do Christmas shopping with her daughter. "Naturally," she replied when asked if inflation affected her buying. "But I'm buying just the same, or I'll just have to go without," said Mrs. Simon, having come a long way to shop.

A Woodstock resident, who declined to mention her name because she was shopping in one store and worked in another, said that she was buying "more practical" Christmas presents, combining necessities with the joy of giving. She added that, working as a sales clerk, she noticed many other people were doing the same thing, so the kids might find more clothes than usual under the tree.

Perhaps the most telling remarks were overheard inadvertently. "They have a lot of nerve charging that kind of money," ranted a man who was gazing longingly at some sporting equipment he coveted.

It was mostly the middle aged and elderly who seemed perturbed by the prices. Some of the younger couples and teenagers were outwardly unconcerned.

One young man, shopping with his wife and small child, said the prices hadn't really affected him at all. "I only have two people to buy presents for," he explained.

And a girl named Jill remarked that the rise in costs made no difference to her. "My allowance went up, and I don't really remember what things used to cost," she blithely stated.

Santa Ready

Christmas approaches, and Santa Claus makes his final preparations for his big night of the year, Christmas Eve, when the good children of the world benefit from his largesse.

Expensive . . . But a Saving

RYE, N.Y. (UPI) — As cars go, paying nearly $12,000 for one is not an average luxury but neither is the 31 miles to a gallon Mercedes-Benz says its new five-cylinder diesel engine passenger car can get for the money.

Mercedes-Benz of North America, headquartered in Rye, Tuesday unveiled its first five cylinder diesel car, which comes with air conditioning, automatic transmission, power windows and costs a mere $11,782.

In announcing the new model, designated 300 D, Mercedes president Karlfried Nordmann said the German auto maker's sales in the United States was expected to be down 8 per cent this year compared with 1973 sales. He added that 38,500 cars were expected to be sold in 1974.

Nordmann told a news conference that the manufacture of a five-cylinder diesel engine should satisfy consumers who want an efficient high mileage car but who have stayed away from diesel cars in the past because of "it just didn't have much pickup."

He quoted federal Environmental Protection Agency figures that showed the 300 D getting 31 miles per gallon on the open highway and 24 miles per gallon in city driving.

Anticipating comments that diesel service stations are sometimes few and far between, Nordmann noted that with its 17.2 gallon fuel tank, the car has a cruising range of 500 miles.

In addition to the new engine, buyers receive standard equipment which includes automatic transmission, air conditioning, power steering, power brakes, power windows, am-fm radio, tinted glass and radial tires.

The $11,782 price tag is at port of entry and does not include state and local taxes, nor does it apply to models delivered to the West Coast, which cost $11,921.

In a presentation complete with graphs and charts, Mercedes engineer Peter von Manteuffel said the 300 D would accelerate from zero to 62 miles per hour in 17 seconds.

Nordmann said Mercedes' parent company, Daimler-Benz, built its first diesel truck in 1923 and built the first diesel passenger car in 1936. Since 1949, he added, more than 1.3 million diesel engine cars have been sold.

'Hazardous'

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — A University of Wisconsin biochemist says staples such as salt and sugar, especially sucrose, are more hazardous to human health than food additives or even natural food poisons caused by bacteria.

"All material things in the universe are made exclusively of chemicals, including foods, and all chemicals are toxic in the wrong amount," said biochemist F.M. Strong.

"What's important is whether the chemical is hazardous in the amount actually consumed," he said.

Strong said he thought additives were being unduly criticized, despite the fact they must meet strict standards. He said food staples like sugar and salt should also meet strictly controlled standards.

"The hazard from sucrose outweighs that from any other substance Strong said. He said sucrose, cane or beet sugar, was the major cause of dental problems among more than 95 per cent of the U.S. population.

Harold Wilson Skilled Rider

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst

As leader of Britain's Labor Party for the past 11 years, Prime Minister Harold Wilson is an expert at living up to what has become an old saying within the party: "If you can't ride two horses at once, you don't belong in the circus."

As party leader he won last October's election in part at least on his pledge that under a "social contract" with Britain's labor unions, British workers would moderate their wage demands in return for better working and welfare conditions.

As prime minister, he now must deal with the fractious horse on the left which threatens not only to upset the "social contract" but other phases of the government's program as well.

At the Labor Party's annual conference the last week of November, Wilson demonstrated anew his skill as a circus rider and the occasional toughness necessary to bridge the gap between Labor moderates and the leftists willing to ignore practicalities in favor of Socialist ideology.

Against a determined leftist onslaught on the "social contract," Wilson and his ministers firmly warned that big money wage settlements would prove no protection from rising prices.

The prospect instead, they said, would be for bankruptcies and rising unemployment.

They warned further that it would be they who would determine the government course and not the left wing orators.

College Welcome Mat Out for the Many Students

NEW YORK (UPI) — College doors are swinging wide open for older Americans, often for free or at vastly reduced tuition.

State colleges and universities are putting out the biggest welcome mat for the mature students. In many cases a student must be 50, 55 or older to take advantage of the bargain.

The students are called "the new constituency." In addition to oldsters they include working adults, housewives, college dropouts, and the disabled.

The modus operandi for the special students—as well as courses designed for them from school to school.

The American Association of State Colleges and Universities, in a report on the new direction in higher education, says that most of its members cater to the unusual students. Entrance requirements are modified.

There are 313 state-assisted colleges and universities in the United States, Guam and the Virgin Islands. The institutions range from 1,200 students to 30,000.

Their turf includes isolated rural areas and the heart of major metropolitan areas. Their educational programs span a spectrum of student interest, from restaurant management to philosophy, dental and medical studies.

The aim at the "special constituency" helps give the schools more meaningful roles within their communities and states.

Some examples of programs under the "new constituency" movement:

—California State College at Sonoma gives persons 55 and over help in writing "the story of my life." Other special courses for older students help with problems of growing older. Included are courses in financial planning for the retired or about-to-retire. Also, introduction to creative activities for senior citizens. And psychosocial aspects of aging and health maintenance in the later years.

—At Metropolitan State College in Denver, Colo., oldsters may take courses in off-campus centers close to their homes. The school puts on the road a group called "musiganarians"—music students performing for senior citizens.

The school also runs a center for human effectiveness-friendly visitor. From this place students are sent forth to visit senior citizens weekly and to assist them in meeting day-to-day needs.

—The special courses at Columbus College in Columbus, Ga., includes one on budgeting the family income. This is to help families on fixed incomes—social security, family and children's service checks, unemployment benefits.

—The College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, Newark, provides dental care and denture work for elderly patients in city-operated health care programs and health care services for the Newark Elderly Day Care Center.

—At Valley City State College, Valley City, N.D., adult education courses for those over 60 are botanical workshop and shop. The botanical workshop offers household botany information and use of the campus greenhouse. The college also serves as a mealpreparation site for a Title VII (Older Americans Act).

Storm Strikes

A majestic tree is contrasted against the winter sky in Pittsburgh, Pa. One of the tree's huge branches was knocked down by the severe snowstorm recently. Falling branches from trees were responsible for knocking down power lines. Some 30,000 homes in southwestern Penna. are reported to still be without electricity.

An Unlikely Locomotive

Antique car collector Clyde Davis with a 1929 Graham Paige limousine outfitted to look like a steam locomotive. The car, built for Paramount

Pictures, was used to take film star's to premiers. (UPI)

Antique Touring With a Difference

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — When O. Clyde Davis and his wife go to antique car meets, they travel in a vehicle that looks like the child of a crossmating between a limousine and an old-time steam locomotive.

In a lifetime of collecting antique cars, Davis says he has never acquired anything quite like his 1929 Graham Paige touring car outfitted to look like a locomotive, complete with cowcatcher, steam whistle, clanging bell and siren.

The contraption even belches smoke out of its smokestack. The last cylinder on the car's straight-eight engine is baffled off to spew exhaust through the smokestack.

Davis, who will be 80 years old next April, said the strangelooking car was ordered by Paramount Pictures in the heyday of film promotion to use as a publicity vehicle for premiers.

There were at least four of the big seven-passenger vehicles built for use in various parts of the country to transport stars such as Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks in grand style.

Davis has a book which contains a picture of the late band leader Cab Calloway and his wife, Blanche, riding in one of the locomotive limousines, possibly the one Davis now owns.

"Paramount signed a big contract with Graham Paige to build these cars back in 1929," said Davis. "There must have been quite a lot of money involved because of the work they required. The cars were all fixed up by the Baldwin Locomotive Works to look like a steam engine."

"A lot of stuff on the car is authentic railroad equipment. There must be 500 or 600 pounds of brass on the car."

Davis dresses in a railroad engineer's garb and his wife, Gene, dresses in the style of the 1920s newsboy when they go on the road for antique car meets.

The car has a round metal emblem on the front with the Paramount Pictures logo engraved on it. There is an observation platform built on the back to simulate the platforms that were used by whistle-stopping political candidates of the 1920s.

Davis said one of the car's previous owners, who used it to promote a now defunct brand of bread, claimed to have driven it at 70 miles per hour.

"I sure wouldn't want to take it that fast," said Davis. Everywhere the car appears it becomes an instant conversation piece. Children want to ride it and ring the bell while blowing the whistle and sounding the siren.

CORPORATE ACCOUNTS ARE WELCOMED AT STATEWIDE

Managers of businesses, large and small, are often faced these days with the problems of cash flow in the day-to-day operation of their business. This can pose an earnings problem since funds left in checking accounts earn no interest. On large sums, this could amount to many dollars of additional earnings. Prudent business management indicates that these funds could be earning attractive interest in savings accounts or savings certificates. STATEWIDE SAVINGS is the logical place for these funds because commercial banks are not permitted to pay the same high rates of interest. At the same time, the laws do not permit savings banks in New York State to accept corporate funds, whereas savings associations such as STATEWIDE are not restricted in this manner. STATEWIDE not only is permitted to accept your corporate funds - we welcome them. Effective November 27, 1974, the FSLIC insurance limits will be increased to $40,000 for each insured account. STATEWIDE pays the highest rates allowed by law with annual yields up to 7.90% on term accounts. You are invited to phone or stop in to discuss the ways in which we can help your business to higher earnings.

Listen Here, Veteran

Jan. 1st Deadline — Time is running short for those veterans, their widows and dependent parents, who recently received annual income questionnaires to complete and return for forms. Failure to return them by the Jan. 1, 1975 deadline could result in a discontinuance of future pension checks. Persons having difficulty in completing them are urged to contact Don Moore, State Counselor of the New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs counseling center located at 300 Flatbush Ave., UPO Box 527, Kingston, (Tel. 331-9300 Ext. 287). State Veteran Counselors are available to assist pensioners in completing and returning the forms. The completion of these forms on an annual basis is necessary since the amount of the monthly pension checks is determined by the income received from all sources.

Braun Is 21st Eagle Scouter in Troop 63

Eagle Scouter at Court of Honor

Robert A. Braun, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Braun, Shokan, was elevated to the rank of Eagle Scout at a recent Court of Honor. Eagle Scout Braun and his parents were escorted by several of troop 63's Eagle Scouts to a ceremony which was climaxed by the presentation of the coveted award by William Chandler, merit badge counselor and friend of the recipient.

The troop's 21st Eagle Scout began his Scouting career as a Cub Scout in Pack 63, eventually earning Cubbing's highest award, the Webelos Arrow of Light. During a five-year span of time, Scout Braun moved up through the various ranks, eventually earning a total of 35 merit badges. His service to his troop has included such positions as Den Chief, assistant patrol leader, troop historian, assistant senior patrol leader and a charter member of the Leadership Corps. He has qualified for four attendance awards, two historic trails awards, a 50-mile award and Order of the Arrow Brotherhood.

A junior at Oteora Central School, he has been an active member of the Oteora Marching Band and has contributed extensive art work and photographs to the Band Scrapbook. While a student at the Bennett Elementary School, he served as the editor of the Bennett Banner and is currently an editorial page editor for the high school newspaper, The Oteora Bull.

Following the Eagle presentation, Robert F. Adsit, himself an Eagle Scout, awarded the Bronze palm to Eagle Scouts Braun and F. Daniel Adsit. This award is for Eagles who have earned five merit badges beyond those required for attaining the rank of Eagle.

The following were advanced: Ken Fickus to Tenderfoot; Eric Huppert, Carl Swenson and Robert Wood to Second Class; and Gardner Creason and Mark Thompson to First Class. Eleven Scouts received 15 merit badges earned since the end of summer camp. Attention was also given to the fact that 22 Scouts had earned a total of 59 merit badges in summer camp, making a grand total of 74 merit badges earned by members of Troop 63 since last June. Service stars were presented to Steve Barber for three years and to Alan Berger, Louis Leonar and Lee Melius each for one year. The Fifty-Miler Award was presented to Dan Adsit, Steve Barber, Ian Black, John Joel Bruno, Gardner Creason, John Every, Ken Every, Robert Every, Ken Fickus, Eric Fisher, Eric Huppert, Louis Leonar, Carl Swenson, Glen Rex, William Fisher, William Creason and Scoutmaster Tom Fickus. These awards were earned during a canoe trip this past August.

The Court of Honor was closed by Senior Patrol Leader Kenneth Every.

Troop 63 is sponsored by the American Legion Olive Memorial Post 1627, of Ashokan.

Red Sox Make $2 Million Offer to A's for Bando

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Knowing the man's past willingness to plunk down the "big buck" no one could certainly question Tom Yawkey offering a cool 2 million for Oakland A's third baseman Sal Bando.

Yawkey, as it is well remembered among baseball people, once offered $1 million for Cleveland Indians flamethrowing southpaw Herb Score during less inflationized times, an also came within a good night's sleep of trading Ted Williams for Joe DiMaggio.

So it is not too surprising today to find Yawkey, the owner of the Boston Red Sox, square in the middle of a million dollar bidding triangle at the winter baseball meetings that began when A's owner Charlie Finley, in late night talks with Kansas City Royals owner Ewing Kauffman, put a $2 million price tag on both Oakland superstars, Reggie Jackson and Bando.

"No, what I said was $2 million," replied Finley after Kauffman offered him that much for Jackson.

Dick O'Connell, Red Sox general manager who works for moneyman Yawkey, heard about the Finley-Kauffman talks and instinctively picked up the ball for his boss. "We'd be interested in Sal Bando at that price," O'Connell said.

"I'm completely serious about it."

The next move, of course, is up to Finley, who in addition to hearing bids for his entire Oakland team from a couple of eager New Orleans groups, was also reportedly negotiating a deal with Los Angeles that would send another of his unhappy world champions, righthander Ken Holtzman, to the Dodgers.

There was only one deal of major significance at the meetings Wednesday, and on paper anyway, it quite clearly re-affirmed the Baltimore Orioles as the team to beat in the American League East again next year.

The busy-trading Orioles, who landed slugging first baseman Lee May from Houston Tuesday, added another "big stick" to their '75 lineup in switchhitting Ken Singleton, who came over from the Montreal Expos along with righthanded pitcher Mike Torrez in exchange for four-time 20-game winner Dave McNally, outfielder Rich Coggins and minor league pitcher Bill Kirkpatrick.

"You can't know how wrenching it was for us to give up a guy like McNally who has meant so much to the success of the Orioles," Baltimore general manager Frank Cashen said. "But we came here looking for punch and we feel Singleton (who drove in 103 runs with 24 homers two years ago) in rightfield can give us that."

For the Expos, who sacrificed age (Torrez is 28 and Singleton 27 while McNally is 32), the deal was necessary in order to fill their desperate need for lefthanded pitching.

"There's no question we came here with the specific purpose of getting some lefthanders," conceded Expos' general manager Joe Fanning, who did not have a single southpaw on his roster at the start of the meetings.

Later in the day, the Expos acquired the services of another veteran lefty when they sent catcher Terry Humphrey and righthander Tom Walker to the Detroit Tigers for 34-year old Woody Fryman.

Of an even lesser nature, the California Angels completed their third minor swap in as many days at the meetings by sending lefthanded reliever Bill Gilbreath to the Cleveland Indians for outfielder nRusty Torres, pitcher Charlie Hudson and catcher Ken Suarez. All four players will report to minor league clubs.

With the inter-league trading period due to end Friday at midnight (CST), the clubowners were expected to inaugurate a second inter-league swap session for the spring during their huddles today.

Meanwhile, the Yankees and White Sox were close to a deal that would send relief pitcher Cecil Upshaw to Chicago in return for infielder Eddie Leon.

Both leagues were also due to further their talks on expansion and groups from Toronto and Seattle as well as the host city were driving hard for either new or existint clubs.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn begrudgingly admitted that there had been "some talk" among the owners about the sale or shift of existing franchises. If Finley was the clubowner in question, Kuhn didn't say.

He also didn't say whether Finley would prefer $15 million for his entire team or just a paltry (to Yawkey anyway) $2 million for Bando or Jackson.

Pistons' Trip to Movies Results In Outstanding Defensive Effort

Two games ago, the Detroit Pistons took a look at their 1010 record and several viewings of themselves on film—and decided it was time to change.

Today, after putting on the best defensive display in their history, the Detroit Pistons are back on top of the Midwest Division of the National Basketball Association by a full game with a 12-10 mark.

In shooting down the Houston Rockets 86-69 Wednesday night, the Pistons set a team record for fewest points allowed, lowering the old standard of 78 they allowed Philadelphia Jan. 4, 1958.

The season's lowest point total in the league was achieved on quarters of 16, 17, 18, and 18 points.

Although it was Houston's sixth straight setback, it also came eight days after Detroit limited the New York Knicks to 88 points and indicated the Pistons were playing the kind of defense that gave them a 52-30 record and put them in the league's power elite last season.

"We found out we've got to slow it down, goback to the books," Coach Ray Scott said. "We had a movie in New York that kind of showed everybody what they were doing. We look at a lot of movies but everybody really let their hair down on this one. We never were that critical."

"I'm going to give all the credit to my guys for this. They completely changed the personality of the team after 20 games. When we were exciting, we were 10-10. All I know is that we were loved when we were winning."

The defense Don Adams played on Rudy Tomjanovich typified the Pistons' effort. Tomjanovich, who wound up with eight points, got off just eight shots and sank his only field goal when Adams wasn't in. Tomjanovich has been averaging 20.7 points.

Bob Lanier led Detroit as usual by scoring 24 points and Dave Bing chipped in 18. Zaid Abdul-Aziz got 13 for Houston and Calvin Murphy had 11 coming off the bench.

"It wasn't the rest," Scott said when asked if the long layoff might have helped. "It was a matter of waking up, of applying ourselves. We were more patient in our game plan; more patient in the things we did on defense. We've got to go out and do all the smart things of basketball intelligently in order to win. "We found out we couldn't go out and get in shootouts. We're strictly a 50 per cent team in run-and-shoot."

In other NBA games, Boston whipped Los Angeles 101-90, Philadelphia edged Kansas City-Omaha 109-105, Washington ripped Portland 114-87 and Seattle beat Milwaukee 112-103.

In the American Basketball Association, the troubled St. Louis Spirits stopped Kentucky, 126-122, getting 28 points from Marvin Barnes, 30 from Maurice Lucas, and none from the suspended Joe Caldwell; Indiana edged Utah, 104-100; San Antonio beat Memphis, 122-108; and Denver whipped San Diego, 114-100.

Celtics 101, Lakers 90

Dave Cowens scored eight of his game-high 32 points in the final period for Boston. Cowens, in only his second start since returning from a foot injury, scored most of his baskets on long jump shots and hook shots in the lane over LA's 7-foot-1 Elmore Smith. Cowens was ejected along with the Lakers' Kermit Washington with 49 seconds left following an altercation under the Lakers' basket. Lucius Allen led Laker scorers with 24 points despite being hampered by a sprained ankle.

76ers 109, Kings 105

Fred Carter's 25 points, Billy Cunningham's 24 and Steve Mix's 23 helped Philadelphia over Kansas City-Omaha to snap four-game losing streak.

Bullets 114, Blazers 87

Elvin Hayes scored 24 points, Kevin Porter a season high 23 and Phil Chenier 21 as Washington rolled to its fourth straight victory and 17th in 23 games, the best in the NBA. Portland played again without injured center Bill Walton.

Sonics 112, Bucks 103

Spencer Haywood scored 37 points and had 14 rebounds to lead the Sonics but Fred Brown and Don Watts each had big baskets in the final quarter to give Seattle the victory. Brown had 13 points in the last period, which began with the Sonics leading 80-79. Watts hit a short jump shot over Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who finished with 22 points, to give Seattle a sixpoint lead with 1:07 left.

WFL Finalists Appear Ready to Play

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.

(UPI) — The World Football League's first championship game, World Bowl I, could be most intense contest of the season when the Florida Blazers and the Birmingham Americans meet tonight.

Americans Coach Jack Gotta said the World Bowl, scheduled for kickoff at 8 p.m. CST at Legion Field, "will show that much of the negative publicity about the WFL has been wrong. This game will be played with more intensity than any game of the season just because of the adversity these two teams have gone through."

Blazer Coach Jack Pardee agreed with Gotta that both teams "are ready to play a good football game. We didn't come all the way up here from Orlando to lose," Pardee said at a Wednesday evening news conference.

"You tell them here in Birmingham we came up to win."

The Blazers and the Americans, like many other teams in the fledgling WFL, faced immense financial problems as the season progressed. Blazers officials said their players have not been paid in more than 13 weeks.

Earlier this week the fate of the World Bowl was in doubt when the Americans players staged a surprise walkout Monday to protest the fact they had not been paid in five weeks.

After a meeting with team officials Tuesday, the players agreed to go back to work and participate in the World Bowl.

Center John Matlock said the team, "will be ready to play tomorrow (Thursday) night. Our concentration wasn't hurt. In fact, we're more together, and we're ready to play."

The Blazers and Americans met twice in the regular season with the Americans winning 8-7 and 26-18.

"That's not going to make a difference," Gotta said. "We have prepared for this game just as we have for all our games and we felt all along the Blazers would be one of the finest clubs in our league."

BVOTH Pardee and Gotta said they expected their teams to be physically fit for tonight's contest and injuries were not a problem on either side.

During halftime ceremonies, the league's Most Valuable Player Award will be presented to quarterback Tony Adams of the Southern California Sun, J.J. Jennings of the Memphis Southmen and Tommy Reamon of the Blazers, who tied for the honor.

League officials said Jennings, recovering from a tonsilectomy in Memphis, would not be present to accept his share of the $10,000 cash award.

Alexander Holds Lead

EL PASO, Tex., (UPI) — Georgia Southern golfer Buddy Alexander led an impressive field of amateur golfers today in his bid to win the inaugural title of the Sun Bowl College All-Star golf tournament.

The lanky senior from St. Petersburg, Fla., birdied eight holes in Wednesday's opening round and went on to post a blistering seven-under-par 65 over the El Paso Country Club course.

Bowie Hangs Tough

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn tells reporters that any attempt by Yankees' owner George Steinbrenner to circumvent his present two-year suspension will result in an even longer one. Kuhn set the penalty after Steinbrenner pleaded guilty to making illegal political contributions through his American Shipbuilding Co. (UPI)

Kings, Habs Switch Traditional Roles

In a season full of surprises, it shouldn't come as any kind of surprise that the Los Angeles Kings are back in first place ahead of Montreal.

To add a further twist to the topsy-turvy standings, the Kings and Canadiens reversed their traditional roles Wednesday night to enable Los Angeles to move one point in front of Montreal in Division 3 of the National Hockey League.

The surprising Kings, with only two losses in 24 games and the league's stingiest defense, held Minnesota to a season-low 16 shots while getting 51 of their own en route to a 4-1 victory.

Earlier in the evening, the Canadiens found themselves in the embarrassing position of blowing a two-goallead in the final minute and a half on home ice to settle for a 4-4 tie with the Boston Bruins.

The twin results left Los Angeles with 35 points to the Canadiens' 34, and Los Angeles also has three games in hand.

In other games Wednesday night, the New York Rangers beat Detroit 4-2, Pittsburgh beat Toronto 4-2, Chicago whipped Kansas City 7-3 and California surprised Atlanta 3-1.

Kings 4, North Stars 1

Tied at 1-1 entering the final period, Los Angeles unleashed a 21-shot barrage at rookie goalie Pete LoPresti and came away with goals by Mike Murphy, Bob Murdoch and Bob Nevin. Richard Nantais, on an unassisted effort, got the only Minnesota goal in the first period against Rogie Vachon.

Bruins 4, Canadiens 4

Carol Vadnais scored with only 1:22 left for Boston's third goal and Johnny Bucyk followed with his second goal of the night into an empty net just 18 seconds later to give the Bruins a tie.

"(Ken) Dryden didn't have a chance on the two goals I scored," Bucyk said. "It's a good tie for us. It's happened to us three times this season that we've pulled out our goalie and tied the game."

Guy Lapointe had two goals for Montreal, which held a 4-1 lead early in the third period.

Rangers 4, Red Wings 2

Rick Middleton celebrated his 21st birthday by scoring the goahead goal in the second period and Jean Ratelle helped the Rangers tie a club record with a power play goal. It marked the 12th consecutive game that New York has scored at least once during a minpower advantage.

Penguins 4, Maple Leafs 2

Trailing 2-1, Pittsburgh rallied for three goals in the final period on shots by Nelson Debenedet, Chuck Arnason and Vic Hadfield. Darryl Sittler had a goal andan assist for Toronto.

First Heat To Stenmark

VAL D'ISERE, France (UPI) — Young Ingemar Stenmark of Sweden clocked the fastest time today in the first of two heats in the men's World Cup giant slalom ski race.

Stenmark, 18, covered the course—dropping 430 meters with 66 gates—in 1:30.59 minutes.

In second place was Italy's Gustavo Thoeni in 1:30.99 and third was another Scandinavian, Erik Haker, with 1:31.11 minutes.

"It all depends on the second course and how it's laid out," the shy, fluffy-cheeked Stenmark said after the first heat. "The first track was pretty difficult with a lot of sharp bends. I hope the second one permits more swing."

Cummings Powers Ulster In Bernstein's Debut

POUGHKEEPSIE Mike Bernstein's one-game "exhibition" season started and ended here Wednesday night. Fortunately for the new Ulster County Community College basketball coach, mediocre Dutchess County Community College provided the opposition.

Mediocre indeed. Had the Falcons been anything but, Ulster probably would be going into tonight's fray at undefeated Westchester with a 0-1 record rather than the perfect 1-0 mark it carries following the Senators' rather ragged 70-63 triumph over the Falcons.

The Senators, as had been expected considering the amount of time they've had to work with their new coach, weren't particularly impressive in scoring their debut victory. But guards Chris Cummings and Rachid Walker, UCC's answer to the Knicks' Frazier-Monroe backcourt tandem, combined for 44 of Ulster's 70 points, with Cummings, the dandy little shooter out of Monticello taking care of 30 markers himself.

Ulster had the kind of problems most teams experience on opening night. There were turnovers, poor shot selection, a lot of standing around . . . you know the sort of stuff. And with the ideas of not one, not two, but three coaches popping through their minds, you could excuse UCC for its sloppiness.

"I'm shooting for .500 for the first half season," said Bernstein, who took over for the departed Jerry Moss and who immediately succeeded interim coach Al DiBernardo, giving UCC the league lead in mentors.

Bernstein obviously feels his team has the talent. All it needs is time. Against Dutchess, Ulster struggled for the first 20 minutes, coming out of the half with a five-point lead and more than a dozen turnovers. Cummings, however, got hot after intermission and he helped push the Senators to a commanding 12-point lead which they threatened to cough up but which they managed, for the most part, to guard.

Lloyd Lyons, the former Poughkeepsie High star, and Dave Garcia netted 14 points apiece for the Falcons.

Tonight it's Westchester for Ulster and Westco's coach Ralph Arietta was here to get an eyeful of the Senators. He saw enough potential from the as-yet unproductive forward line of Carl Mabry, Fletcher Abrams, and Joe McCall. Kim Anderson to be concerned. But it just might be too early for UCC to consider beating Westchester a real challenge.

Sportside

Charles J. Tiano, Sports Editor

Mike Bernstein, the interim basketball coach at UCC, is a realist who has faith in properly charted schedules. "There's a lot of natural talent on this team, but it's going to take a few games to reach its full potential," he said prior to Ulster's delayed opener against Dutchess County Community College Wednesday night.

The results, while not overwhelming, at least gave Bernstein's newly-inherited squad a fast start on the .500 pace he hoped to maintain through the first half the 1974-75 season.

"We're hoping to stay around .500 for the first half," he said. "It's going to take that long, especially on offense where the team was using only five or six plays." Was this an oblique reference to the expertise of the departed coach?

"I don't indulge in personalities," he countered, "but I quickly became aware that the team had many things to learn and it looks like we're going to have to play catch-up ball in that area. We have serious shortcomings in fundamentals, both on offense and defense."

The impression among Mid-Hudson Conference opponents is that Bernstein, despite his present handicaps, may not need that half season under fire to challenge the best teams, notably Ralph Arietta's Westchester powerhouse. "If I didn't think the material was there for a good team, I wouldn't have taken the job in the first place," said Bernstein, who was among the unemployed when he applied for the job and was picked over a rapidly growing list of aspirants to Jerry Moss' vacated post.

"I consider this job one of the real challenges of my career," the former Monticello High three-letter captain explained. "I knew some of the personnel, especially Chris Cummings." The latter justified his new coach's faith in him by scoring 30 points against Dutchess.

Bernstein thinks his top six of Rachid Walker, Cummings, Joe McCall, Kim Anderson, Carl Mabry, Ron Walker and Fletcher Abrams can cut it in time to make Ulster a Mid-Hudson contender.

Bernstein, who was a college coach with the University of Massachusetts and American International at Springfield, prefers a good, tight man-to-man defense. "We will use a full court press and zone, but basically I like the man-to-man."

The Ulster mentor isn't completely taken in by the terrifying accounts of Westchester's invincibility.

"I hear a lot about Westchester," he explained, "but Howie Pierson has a tremendous squad at Rockland County."

"Didn't somebody say Pierson, who moonlights as a superb amateur golfer, has a lot of greenies on his squad?"

"Yeah, but what greenies," snapped Bernstein. "I happen to know he has some of the best high school players in Rockland County on his team."

"We're not cinch to win the Mid-Hudson Conference title," the genial Arietta protested over the telephone. "From what I hear Ulster has some pretty good material. I know all about Ulster's problems, but it's going to be tough when it puts it all together."

"Bernstein is a fine coach and I think he'll have the team rolling in a few games," said Arietta. "Please, don't hand us the title yet."

Mike Bernstein is something special if he is willing to take an interim post such as UCC's offered him. True, he became unemployed when the Hudson Valley Nets franchise failed to materialize in the Eastern Professional Basketball League. But, how many coaches would be willing to do that?

We know that two of the applicants for Moss' job were retired former area coaches. They would be doing it for kicks. Bernstein is dead serious.

"I got no commitment beyond this season, I took the job because of the challenge," he repeated.

The obvious question: If Mike Bernstein turns Ulster around in the brief space of one dislocated season and restores the credibility of UCC basketball, would he be a candidate to succeed himself?

Bernstein, obviously, declined comment. The question, however, is fraught with rhetorical significance.

Indiana Made Most Of a Second Chance

By United Press International

Indiana got a second chance and made the most of it. The third-ranked Hoosiers blew a chance to defeat 10th-ranked Kansas in regulation time Wednesday night but managed to outscore the Jayhawks 14-10 in overtime at Lawrence, Kan., to run their record to 2-0 with a 74-70 victory.

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 5 North Carolina walloped East Tennessee State 93-71, 11th-ranked Maryland topped Wake Forest 99-78, No. 14 Notre Dame clubbed Northwestern 100-84, No. 15 Arizona beat Cal-Davis 84-58, 17th-ranked Providence edged Brown 78-75 and No. 19 Boston College whipped Let moyne 113-66.

Albany State Quintet Sends New Paltz to 98-68 Defeat

NEW PALTZ

Another one of Coach Dick Sauers' typically well-drilled Albany State basketball teams came to Elting Gym Wednesday night and spoiled New Paltz State's home opener by posting a 98-68 SUNYAC victory.

The Danes, making their seasonal debut, broke open a tight game midway through the first half by running the Hawks into the ground. When NP tried to run with the upstarts, turnovers resulted and defeat quickly followed.

It was New Paltz' third straight loss of the season.

Ed Audi and Ed Johnson sparked the Albany attack with 20 and 18 points respectively. Mike Suprunowicz also contributed 18 points for the winners.

New Paltz got 20 points from Ron Domanski and 16 from Bob Irish, but the key statistic was on the turnover chart where the Hawks were charged with 27 to only 12 by Albany. The Danes outrebounded NP, 42-36.

Albany captain Pete Koola, the former Rondout Valley-UCC big man from Rosendale, made his first local appearance in a Dane Uniform. The 6-4 senior had six points, four rebounds, one assist, and a pair of steals.

Next on the docket for New Paltz is the first Jaycee Scholarship Classic Friday and Saturday in Elting Gym. On opening night, the Hawks will face York following the battle between John Jay and Fitchburgh.

Handlebar, Acker's 'Y' Playoff Winners

KINGSTON It appears that the YMCA "A" Basketball League teams are playing for keeps in their annual post-autumn playoffs.

Example: a misunderstanding over the start of the game between The Handlebar and The Outrigger "led to a rough atmosphere and from the very beginning the game was out of hand," according to the league publicist.

A solid 38-point performance by Tom Fiore, backed up by 20-plus stints from Ray Lindhorst (24), Mike Derrenbacher (20) and Ron Thomas (26) enabled the Handlebar score an impressive 112-90 victory, after a 56-46 halftime lead.

Ted Wood rimmed 37 points for the Riggers, with Rod Chando adding a sub-standard 18 and Don Komosa 16.

Acker's Bar jumped to a 32-18 lead against Artie's in the first quarter and rolled to an easy 114-87 triumph.

Ex-Syracuse star Greg Kohls scored 30 points in a losing cause for Artie's, Bill Fitzgerald scored 25 and Rocky Johnson potted 18 before he was banished with 4:33 remaining in the third quarter.

Scott Miller led Acker's with 26 points. Dave Kane added 20, Jim Alba and Jim Cosentino hit 19 each and Jerry Hawkins had 16.

The results:

Artie's (87)		Acker's Bar (114)

Kingston High's Swim Streak On Line in Burnt Hills Meet

By IRA FUSFELD

KINGSTON Varsity swimming, the most successful sport at Kingston High School in terms of wins and losses, gets underway Saturday with a new coach at the helm and a 39-meet victory streak on the line.

Floyd McCormick, known in area aqua circles as coach of the local YMCA team, takes over for Ron Gabriele this year and he does so with a fine nucleus returning from last season's Dutchess County Scholastic League champs.

But McCormick's first Maroon splashes are not without their weak spots and that fact, combined with several new, and stronger, opponents may well spell the end of KHS's long string of consecutive victories.

That end may even come as soon as Saturday when Kingston visits the Capital District's powerful Burnt Hills team on opening day.

The big plus for Kingston, of course, is the fabulous trio of Jay Rifenburg, Paul Hansen, and Bobby Winrow . . . a threesome which figures to roll up its fair share of first-place finishes.

The key to the season, however, lies in Kingston's depth. If the Maroons can pick up a sufficient number of seconds and thirds, overall victory will likely follow. If not, KHS may suffer several close defeats.

Rifenburg will handle the short freestyle events while Hansen will take care of the long distance chores. Winrow is the man for the butterfly and individual medley.

Anne St. Denis, whom Kingston figured would be the No. 1 backstroke, didn't come out for the team this season and as a result McCormick has been hard-pressed looking for a replacement.

Other absentees, they by the graduation route, include Jack Abernathy, Kent St. John, Mark Davis, and Perry Gallo.

Ma Bells Tied for Lead

Ma Bells and Fire Department have perfect records through the first three rounds of play with 3-0 marks in the Sawyer Basketball League.

The Bells rallied from a 26-20 halftime deficit to down Mark IV Printing, 60-48. A 24-9 second quarter advantage carried Fire Department to 67-35 rout of The Flower Garden and Mahogany Ridge drubbed the Flyers 57-34.

Joe Hellenschmidt led the Ma Bells with 16 points. Jimmy Whiteford had 14 points and 7 assists and Bob Tammany hauled in 14 rebounds. Dave Wells scored 18 points and Vic Pelletieri had 10 points and 10 rebounds.

Clark Hackett garnered 19 points and 11 rebounds and Craig Wolsen 16 and Mouse Wolven 14. George Wilcox was tops for Flower Garden with 17 points and 14 rebounds. John Freleigh couldn't help with a season's high 8 assists.

Iggy Maines totalled 24 points for the Undertakers to take the league lead with 63 points in three games. Kerin Campbell (13) and Steve Ficalette (11) led in rebounds.

Buckeyes Top All-America

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ohio State and Oklahoma, two perennial powers whose combined record this season was 21-1, gave a clear indication to the reasons behind their success Wednesday when they named nine players between them to the 1974 United Press International All-America college football team.

Ohio State, the nation's No. 2 ranked team, had five players selected while the unbeaten but unranked Sooners countered with four.

The Buckeyes, who finished the regular season with a 10-1 record and will meet Southern California in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day, placed Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin, center Steve Myers, offensive tackle Kurt Schumacher, defensive end Van DeCree and defensive back Neal Colzie on the team.

Griffin, a junior running back, emerged as the top votegetter in the balloting conducted of sports writers and sportscasters from across the nation, and both he and DeCree are repeaters from last year's team.

Oklahoma, which finished with a perfect 11-0 record but is ineligible for post-season play because of its probationary status, was represented by junior running back Joe Washington, guard John Roush, linebacker Rod Shoate and defensive back Randy Hughes.

Only two other teams, Notre Dame and Southern California, placed as many as two players on the first unit. The Irish, who have not missed landing a player on the first team since 1962, named wide receiver Pete Demmerle and guard Gerry DiNardo while the Trojans laced running back Anthony Davis and linebacker Richard Wood. Wood also made the team last season while DiNardo's brother, Larry, was a first team choice in 1969 and 1970.

Rounding out the offensive team were junior tight end Bennie Cunningham of Clemson, tackle Marvin Crenshaw of Nebraska and quarterback Steve Bartkowski of California. Comprising the rest of the defensive unit were end Pat Donovan of Stanford, tackles Mike Hartenstein of Penn State and Randy White of Maryland, middle guard Rubin Carter of Miami (Fla.), junior linebacker Woodrow Lowe of Alabama and defensive back Dave Brown of Michigan. Brown also is a repeat choice from last season.

While Alabama, the nation's top-ranked team and also the proud possessor of a regular season record of 11-0, had only one player named to the first team, the Crimson Tide was well represented on the second unit with three selections. Defensive end Leroy Cook, defensive back Mike Washington and center Sylvester Croom were the Tide choices on the second team.

Other second team choices on offense were Pat McNally of Harvard at wide receiver, Dan Natale of Penn State at tight end, Bob Simmons of Texas and Dennis Harrah of Miami (Fla.) at tackle, Ken Huff of North Carolina and Steve Ostermann of Washington State at guard, Steve Joachim of Temple at quarterback and Tony Dorsett of Pittsburgh, Billy Marek of Wisconsin and Louis Giammona of Utah State at running back.

The remainder of the second team defense included end Greg Murphy of Penn State, tackles Pete Cusick of Ohio State and Leroy Selmon of Oklahoma, middle guard Gary Burley of Pittsburgh, linebackers Bob Breunig of Arizona State, Steve Strinko of Michigan and EdSimoni of Texas A&M and deep backs John Provost of Holy Cross and Barry Hill of Iowa State.

This year's first team offensive backfield is one of the more productive in recent years. The three running backs — Griffin, Davis and Washington — combined for 4,295 yards and 272 points while Bartkowski led the nation in passing with 16.5 completions per game while throwing for 2,580 yards and 12 touchdowns.

Martin Moves To Prevent Ban

MINEOLA, N.Y. (UPI)—An attorney for thoroughbred trainer Frank (Pancho) Martin said Wednesday that he will take formal action to prevent a 60-day suspension of Martin by the New York Racing Association. The suspension takes effect on Dec. 6.

The lawyer, Neil T. Shaayne of Mineola, said: "We have not decided as yet whether to use the courts as a vehicle or seek redress through the State's Racing and Wagering Board."

Shaayne called charges by three NYRA stewards that two horses trained by Martin at Belmont Park had been, illegally injected with medications, "groundless."

Wallkill Wins

Wallkill High School defeated Ellenville High 44-37 for its fourth straight Ulster County Athletic League victory and set the stage for its Friday clash with Pine Bush of the UCA's Southern Division. Pine Bush is also 4-0.

Margaret Wilson again led Wallkill with 17 points. Alice Crawford potted 10. Phyllis Moseley dunked 14 and Sandy Jones had 10 for the Ellies.

Flight winners in the men's division included: Andrew Jasienowski, first flight; Lee Van Tassel, 2nd flight; Horace Emerick, 3rd flight; Jesse Kaufmann, 4th flight.

The men's Sawyerkill Cup went to Henry Yochmann. Kenneth Kennedy won the Senior championship, while Fall Handicap Tournament first place trophies went to Dennis Beaver and Joe Donlon.

Nancy Barber won the Esther Rosenblub Memorial Award; Vera Jacobs, the Grandmother's Tournament and Kay Van Tassel, the Beaten Four trophy.

The newly-elected president of the Sawyerkill Golf Association, James Whelan, welcomed the group. The prizes were awarded by the 1974 golf chairpersons, Esther Hendricks and Keith Roberts.

When you take a close look, you'll find that Valiant's the one with the smallest price tag. But just because Valiant isn't priced as high as Granada and Mercedes, doesn't mean it takes a back seat. (See chart.) In fact, we think Valiant stacks up very well. So well, that dollar for dollar, Valiant may be the best car you can buy.

	Valiant $3,247	Granada $3,756	Mercedes 280 $12,325

Trunk—Cubic Feet	16.6	14.8	17.5
Engine Size C/D	225	200	167.6
Number of Passengers	6	5	5

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price for 1975 Valiant and Granada 4-door sedans, excluding destination charges, dealer preparation, state and local taxes. Port of entry price for 1975 Mercedes 280 includes dealer preparation and destination charges. State and local taxes are extra.

Another great Valiant asset is its resale value. This year, for example, a two year old Valiant's resale value increased an average of $300 over the resale value of a two-year old Valiant last year. Maybe that's why we've sold over 2.7 million Valiants since its introduction in 1960. More value when you buy, more value when you trade. That's the Valiant story.

And here's "The Clincher."

'Reality' 5, Sports 0

By Ira Berkow
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—"Reality," wrote Nabokov, is the only word that should always be written within quotes. This fits with sports, certainly, since there is a continuing debate about its inherent "reality."

Does sports build character? Is sports a microcosm of society? A macrocosm, maybe? Such philosophical considerations pale in comparison to the legerdemain, the trompe d'oeil, the shimmering fol-de-rol that the sports world recently has been exhibiting to its bewildered fans.

For example, after Ohio State lost to Michigan State in a football game, and thus dropped a notch in the national polls, Oklahoma was selected by the Associated Press as the nation's Number One team.

UPI's poll did not list Oklahoma at all. It seemed that some vertiginous editor had cut from the top. No mistake, however. UPI's pollsters decided that if a team such as Oklahoma is subject to a two-year NCAA probation for shady recruiting tactics, then they should not be allowed in the virgin company of the Top 10. Yet, if the school had done so much evil, then why allow it to play football at all?

"Walt Disney couldn't have written a better script," said Oklahoma coach Barry Switzer upon hearing of his AP number oneness. The coach knows Mickey Mouse-style reality when he sees it.

The rating system itself, at best, puts a strain on one's credulity, since lower-ranked teams ought never then top the top-ranked ones.

As for Ohio State, the fiercely jowled coach, Woody Hayes, would obviously plump for the word "lost" to be always stapled between quotation marks. The gun sounded ending his team's recent game against Michigan State. The scoreboard read: Mich. St. 16, OSU 13. Hayes has still not conceded that Ohio State lost, despite the implacable stand of the scoreboard.

Hayes' clefted academicians did not really lose. In the immortal words of Vince Lombardi (or was it Voltaire?), "the clock just run out on us."

A clock was only one of several nuisances in George Foreman's nondefeat to Muhammad Ali for the heavyweight title on, appropriately enough, for "reality's" sake, Halloween eve.

It appeared to the worldwide audience that Foreman was legitimately KO'd in eight by Ali. "Legitimate" is the kaleidoscopic word here.

For Foreman tell us later that the count was too short. Not only that, but the ring ropes were too loose, the ring floor too soft and he was a sleepless, nervous wreck from having haggled late into the previous night over his post-fight finances.

Trying to wring a drop of reality out of the Foreman harangue, Ali said, "Foreman was lucky the ring floor was soft. He fell so fast a harder floor would have fractured his skull."

"No," a cosmetized general once said, "we did not retreat. We simply advanced one step backward at a time."

Which is the way Richie Allen did not retire. One day in August he called a team meeting of the White Sox.

STYROFOAM SHAPES

Van Tassell Paint
583 B'way 331-2778

and in a tear-stained talk announced his finish as a baseball player.

A lot of people welcomed this, for Allen has become one of sports' biggest boos.

The other day, though, Allen said, "Everybody said I'm retired except me." If true, then who was that Allen of August?

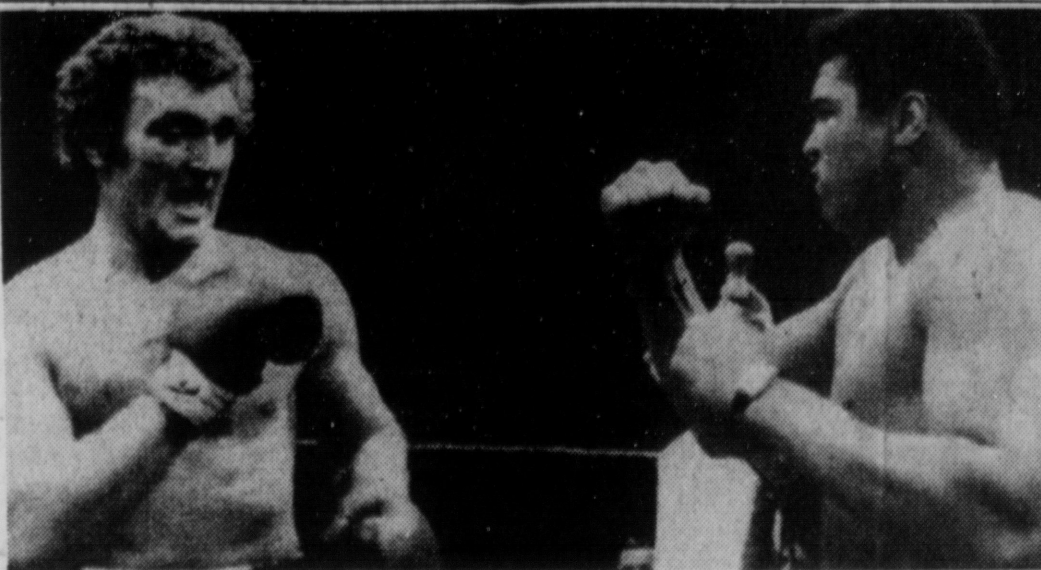

Then alongside all of these events that never occurred comes the Little League pronouncement that its World Series henceforth will include only United States teams.

Why? It's surely not because our own diminutive national pastimers cannot compete with their Asian peers (Taiwan teams have won the title for four of the last five years). It's just that, well, those other guys are taking this sport too seriously. A sport we once took seriously.

So the Little League World Series will no longer include the world. Then again, the world, for narrow locals, is America, anyway.

All this reminds me of that tennis game in the movie "Blow-Up," in which two people played ferociously, without a net and without a ball.

Back on Stage

World heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali lets go a verbal barrage at European heavyweight champ Joe Bugner, then gets in a bit of sparring after Bugner beat Argentina's Alberto Santiago Lovell in London. Ali, who was at ringside as a commentator for the BBC, whipped off his shirt and jacket after the fight and bounded into the ring for the confrontation with Bugner.

Aid for Center

8,000 Hours of Volunteer Effort

Volunteer effort plays a large part in the operation of the Northern Dutchess Day Care Center in Red Hook. Work done by volunteers greatly reduces management costs for the Center. This fact was pointed out recently by President Barbara Bird in her report to the United Way Allocations Panel. The proposed budget for 1975 lists 8,000 hours of volunteer effort.

Due to a tremendous community effort put forth for a fund-raising fashion show, more than 11,500 volunteer hours were contributed to the Center in 1974. More than 2,500 hours were spent on the fashion show alone. This included committee planning, models, flower arrangement donations, refreshment preparation, cleaning and setting up. Other special volunteer efforts during 1974 included the building of a swing set, the installation of a new floor, food donations for the annual dinner, and legal and professional counsel.

Student volunteers from Bard College regularly contribute 10 hours a week, 40 weeks a year working with the children at the Center. The Board of Directors of the Day Care Center Association has 17 members including the officers and standing committee chairmen. These volunteers spend many hours during the year attending meetings and planning for the operation of the Day Care Center.

The generous volunteer effort of people in the community has contributed successfully to the provision of Day Care services to the Northern Dutchess area.

Kingston Has AFS Program

Kingston American Field Service Chapter is one of 3,000 local groups in the United States that coordinates international scholarship programs. Nationwide, the American Field Service brings more than 2,500 students from other nations to the U.S.A. while sending over 2,000 Americans abroad each year.

Many of the communities surrounding Kingston have had AFS Chapters for some time. Among them are: Ontario, Red Hook, Rhinebeck, New Paltz and Poughkeepsie. This fall, a group of 15 enthusiastic volunteers with Mrs. Ross Johnson as coordinator, formed a Kingston AFS Chapter. With the arrival from Austria of the first AFS student, Klaus Eisterer, the Kingston program was launched.

Klaus has been introduced to many segments of the community. He has been guest speaker for various church and community groups, junior and senior high schools classes. He is a guitarist and shows slides of his native Austria.

On Friday, January 10, at 8 p.m., the Kingston AFS Chapter invites the Kingston community to meet Klaus Eisterer, at a social get-together in the meeting-room of the Fair Street Reformed Church.

AFS offers all young people a chance to participate in its program regardless of race, nationality, or religious and political persuasion. Student interviews have been held and a candidate has been selected to apply for a year abroad with American Field Service-International Scholarships for the year 1975-76.

In addition to hosting a student from overseas and sending one to another country, the Kingston AFS Chapter will also sponsor a "Short Term Exchange" in 1975. This is an opportunity that involves students from one high school visiting another community within the same nation. The school chosen for the "Short Term Exchange" this year is North Haven High School in Connecticut.

Another vital part of the program is an active AFS Student Club. From all reports, the Student Club at Kingston High School is off to a flying start with Kathleen Boduch and Ken Evans as advisors.

"Simply Awful" Woman Is Plaguing Grandma

By Abigail Van Buren
1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a grandmother who met a young couple at the home of a mutual friend. I liked the young man, but his wife is simply awful! She talks incessantly and never says anything. She is also a phony. She claims to "love" ballet, art, opera, literature — you name it, and she's an "expert" — but after listening to her for a few minutes, it's apparent she doesn't know much. She is also pushy and her never-ending chatter is punctuated with obscenities, which I detest.

This couple dropped in on me without phoning first. I was shocked, but didn't want to be rude. I should have been, because they dropped in on me again, and stayed and stayed and stayed. Then they told me they had bought property very near me because they loved the area!

Abby, how do I tell them to please leave me alone? I could tolerate an occasional visit, but when they become neighbors I will be robbed of my cherished privacy. Should I tell him? Or her? And how do I phrase it? I can't say, "Please forget that you know me. I cannot stand you!"

ORANGE, CALIF.
DEAR ORANGE: Tell THEM that you are not the "dropping in" kind of neighbor and do not appreciate folks who drop in without calling first. Admit to being a bit of a "nut" on the subject to the point of being thought anti-social — but do let them know you are not kidding.

DEAR ABBY: My husband loves to hunt, and he gets positively rabid when anyone mentions any kind of gun control.

I've always hated guns, and think that handguns should not be manufactured except for use by law enforcers. The other day my husband came home with bumper stickers on our new car. They said: "Guns don't kill people. People kill people."

I finally had to agree that those bumper stickers made a lot of sense. No?

SOOTHED IN SYR-ACUSE

DEAR SOOTHED: Prepare to become unsuited. That bumper sticker should read, "Guns don't kill people, but people with guns kill people." Run that through your old rifle barrel a couple of times.

DEAR ABBY: Like so many others, I never expected to be writing a "Dear Abby" letter because I thought I had the perfect marriage.

I would like to tell every wife whose husband works away from home to go with him because if she doesn't, another woman is waiting to step into her shoes.

My husband worked away from home for the last three years, but he drove 100 miles extra every day so he could spend every night at home with me.

Well, six months ago he started to call me around 5 P.M. saying he was too tired to make the drive home. Finally, he confessed that he met another woman and he thinks he's in love with her. He says he can't make up his mind between us, so we are sharing him.

I can't tell you what I have been going through, Abby. I don't know whether to tell him to stay with her and not come back, or what. My best friend says I should kick him out. My sister says to share him until he gets tired of her.

If I ever get my husband back I will be like Ruth in the Bible. What should I do?

J. IN FLORIDA

DEAR J: Don't make any decisions now that you might later regret. You don't say how long you've been married, or if there are children. (That could make a difference.) Get some counseling. This is too heavy to handle alone, and friends tend to tell you what they think you want to hear.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

(Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 9:07 a.m. WKNY-1490)

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Dear Heloise:

I hate underwear that doesn't last! I don't have any trouble with the material lasting, but it is the seams and where the elastic is sewed on that is the problem.

It seems that I used to buy more briefs only to wear them a few times (sometimes only once), and there they went again — seams ripped and the elastic pulling away from the material. I finally decided I'd had it with always spending money on briefs.

So now I reinforce the elastic and seams on my zig-zag sewing machine when I first bring them home, before I ever wear them. Doesn't take but a minute and those seams then just last and last and last . . .

Also, should a seam rip, or part of the elastic break loose, I launder them, and then and there, before I put them away, I repair them with that zig-zag again. Believe me! It really pays off, and I don't have to replace the pants nearly so often.

Try it, gals — what have you got to lose? Certainly not your good money . . .

Chris

LETTER OF THOUGHT

Dear Heloise:

There are hundreds of children and young people in the U.S. who want to be in the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, Little League, etc., but who can't be because there are no leaders.

My husband and I make it a point to give two years of service to any group our children belong to. If everyone did this, what a help to our children and the organizations they belong to.

In case anyone thinks they don't have the time, there are seven in our family and I work part time!

Norma M.

THIS COLUMN is written for you . . . the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of The Daily Freeman. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

Dr. Lamb

Football After Skull Fracture?

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — First of all, I want to thank you for the information you sent me dealing with diverticulosis. My mother has followed the instructions in the booklet instead of the bland diet she had been on. The results are truly fantastic.

Now, I would like to ask you about my son. He is 14 and had a skull fracture three years ago. How dangerous is this sort of fracture and should he be allowed to participate in activities such as football? Could this kind of fracture cause damage to the brain?

His doctor said he could participate in football. I'm very concerned.

DEAR READER — I'm glad your mother has done so well by changing her diet. The bland diet that she was on was commonly recommended a few years ago. A British surgeon pointed out the value of cereal fiber in providing bulk in the diet, essential to normal bowel function, and since then there has been a small revolution in diets for bowel problems.

Others who need this information can write to me at P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019 and ask for the booklet on diverticulosis. Send 50 cents to cover costs.

There are many types of skull fractures. If broken bone is not depressed into the brain or other injury present, the brain may not have any significant permanent injury. Small fractures that have healed well without brain damage may have no further influence on a person's life. I presume that is the case since your doctor has told you your son can play football.

You will get many different opinions about the safety of football, particularly for school boys. It depends a lot on the conditions.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Recently I read in your column that sit-ups and leg-lifts would help reduce one's waistline. Would exercising y standing still and flexing the abdominal muscles by themselves be of any benefit in reducing the waistline? Is it possible that this type could be harmful, if not helpful?

DEAR READER — I assume you mean pulling in your abdominal muscles and contracting them as much as you reasonably can. If so, it will help.

The best approach is to "suck in your muscles" and hold them in this contracted position for at least 15 seconds. Then relax and repeat the procedure. You can do this either while standing or while seated in a chair.

You can get sore muscles by overdoing it if you have poor muscle tone to start with. So, take it easy.

You can also get results by more rapidly contracting and relaxing the abdominal muscles in a repetitive fashion.

These exercises are not harmful, and they are very useful for people who cannot lie down to exercise. I am thinking here of the patients with hiatal hernia who are instructed to have the head of the bed elevated and avoid bending over.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

The Mid-Hudson Camerata Choral, and the Department of Music, SUNY, New Paltz, announce a Festival Concert of Choral and Orchestral music will be presented on Sunday, Dec. 8, 3:30 p.m. in the McKenna Theatre, and on Tuesday, Dec. 10th, 8:00 p.m. in the Poughkeepsie Middle School, College Avenue, Poughkeepsie.

The College Community Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Lance Premezzi, SUNY faculty, will open the program with Beethoven's famous EG-MONT Overture, from the incidental music to Goethe's Drama.

Premezzi will also conduct the American composer Wayne Barlow's THE WINTER'S PASSE, a short orchestral suite for Oboe and Strings. Oboists for the concert will be Kathy Karlson, Sunday, and Virginia Gifford, Tuesday.

The New Paltz College Women's Choral will perform a unique choral piece for flute, marimba and women's voices by the American-born Vincent Persichetti. The CANTATA is based on HAIKU poems as translated by Harold Stewart. The Flute part will be played by Robin Meng, and the Marimba by Gene Randolph. Lee H. Pritchard will conduct.

After intermission the Camerata will perform the MAGNIFICAT by the Belgian composer, Flor Peeters, and accompanied by Edward B. Greene. A 20th century setting of the liturgical Song of Mary shows the composer using a combination of 20th century tonality and 15th century modality.

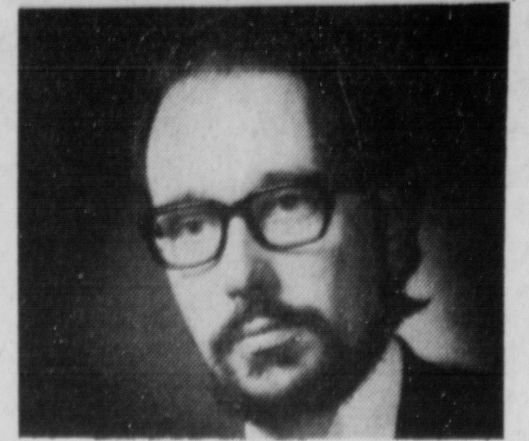

The featured work on the program will combine the orchestra, the New Paltz Concert Choir, the Camerata Chorale and soloists for a presentation of Zoltan Kodaly's MISSA BREVIS in D Major. This festive work, originally an organ Mass written at the close of World War II, was rescored for a large festive orchestra in 1950.

Lee H. Pritchard, Musical Director of the Camerata and the Women's Choral at SUNY, New Paltz, is also in charge of the Concert Choir during the Fall Semester. He has conducted the Camerata for eight of its 12 seasons in the Hudson Valley. A frequent vocal/choral adjudicator for NYSSMA and other groups, he also recently conducted a Festival Choral Program using the combined choirs of the Tri-County Music Association, Glens Falls, New York. He has been a member of the SUNY faculty since 1965, and Director of Music at Trinity United Methodist Church, Poughkeepsie, since that time.

Pritchard will conduct the combined ensemble for the performance of the Kodaly work. There will be a small admission charge for the Festival Concert but no reserved seating at either performance. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

Precious Loaf

As the long line forms around this bakery store, one lucky woman emerges from store with her precious reward, a loaf of bread. The long lines are the result of a London bakers' strike in which some 33,000 union members are seeking a pay raise and a minimum 40 hour work-week. Talks are going on between the government and both sides of the industry, but there is little hope of seeing bread in the shops for at least a week. (UPI)

Newspaper Is Sold

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — Gannett Co., Inc. has announced agreement in principle to acquire 392,900 shares of Speidel Newspapers, Inc., from Thomson Newspapers, Inc. of Canada.

In addition, Gannett said Wednesday it has agreed to sell the Newburgh, N.Y., Evening News to Thomson.

The Speidel shares represent about 6.8 per cent of the outstanding common stock of Speidel, which publishes 11 daily newspapers in eight states.

"The transaction was discussed in advance with management of Speidel and they assured us they would welcome the transfer of the Speidel stock to Gannett," Paul Miller, chairman of the board, and Allen H. Neuharth, president and chief executive of Gannett, said in a statement.

The two Gannett officials said the Speidel stock would be purchased from Thomson at $14 a share. It was quoted at $10 a share on the over the counter market Tuesday. Speidel went public in 1972.

We consider the Speidel stock acquisition a solid investment for Gannett shareholders," the officials said.

The sale of the Newburgh paper, an afternoon daily with a circulation of about 30,000, to Thomson is in return for $8 million in cash and notes, the officials said.

St. Clair McCabe, executive vice president of Thomson Newspapers, said, "There will be no change in the policies of the newspaper and no change in the staff and employment practices."

After the sale, Gannett will have 52 daily newspapers in 17 states and Guam.

Memorial

In sad and loving memory of our dad, Augustus R. Elmendorf, whom God called home five years ago today, Dec. 5th, 1969. What God has done, must be best. Someday we too shall be at rest. And there in some sweet Holy land, Will talk and walk hand in hand.

Son,

Daughter-in-law,
JoAnne

MEMORIAL

In Loving memory of Augustus R. Elmendorf, December 5, 1969. God took the strength of a mountain. The warmth of a summer sun. The calm of a quiet sea. The generous soul of nature. The comforting arms of night. The wisdom of the ages. The power of the eagle's flight. The joy of a morning in spring. The faith of a mustard seed. The patience of eternity. The depth of a family's need. Then God combined these qualities. And when there was nothing to add, He knew his masterpiece was complete. And when there was nothing to add, he knew his masterpiece was complete. And so he called it Dad. We miss you, but find joy in knowing that you're at peace with Him who made you.

Probe

State police BCI investigators continued their probe today of an apparent hit-and-run mishap Monday night which left 85-year-old Krikor Guiragossian of Woodstock dead.

Investigators said they now believe the man was hit by a yellow vehicle or perhaps a vehicle with a yellow snow plow on the front. The auto may have been a commercial-type vehicle of an older make, or a car.

According to authorities, the auto also may show damage to a directional signal light, probably on the right front.

For Friday, Dec. 6, 1974
ARIES (March 21-April 19)
It isn't likely you'll do what others expect of you today. You'll feel imposed upon. You'll resent being bossed around.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
One you're fond of will do something thoughtlessly that will hurt your feelings. Let her know so that it won't happen again.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

Items you acquire to decorate or beautify your home will look better in the store than they do in your house. Shop wisely.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
You'll get some good ideas today but you'll be looking for others to carry them out, instead of implementing them yourself.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
You're still much too loose with your purse strings, especially when it comes to spending on self-gratifying whims.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
You will not enjoy as much personal freedom as you planned on today due to the demands on your time by others.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Be able to say "no" if unreasonable requests are made of you now by a friend, especially if money is the issue.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
If you're overly aggressive today it will tarnish your image in the eyes of others. Be your old, sweet self.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Don't try to be coy or beat about the bush if you want to make a point with another. Lay all your cards on the table.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Be more alert than usual in your business dealings. Don't let yourself be rushed into something that needs more study.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Agreements today are likely to be too one-sided in the others' favor unless you're very firm regarding your demands.

Dec. 6, 1974

New ambitions will stir in you this year and a rise in prestige and status is likely. However, don't expect your victories to come too easily.

TOO BIG?: (Q.) I have very large breasts and I want to reduce them down to about size 34A. Can you please help me? — Too Much in Texas

(A.) You may be too heavy all over. Is so, the answer is to lose weight, under your doctor's care and advice. You won't lose much, if any, in the breast, but your figure as a whole will be much more attractive.

If your weight is normal and you are simply big-breasted, as many girls are, your answer is to dress in a way that will deemphasize your chest measurement. Get away from tight, fitted garments. Adopt loose tops that make you look soft rather than hard.

Surgery is the only effective way to cut down on breast size. It is a major undertaking, and I do not recommend it for you. Maybe when you are adult and on your own you may want to resort to it, but now is not the time.

BATTLES: (Q.) My mother and I have been having fights. It's getting so bad that I almost tried to run away, but I'm only 14 and can't support myself. I've tried to talk to my mother but we just fight instead of talking.

Yesterday we had a really big fight. I walked out and didn't come back till 11:30 p.m. I got yelled at. What should I do? — Unhappy Daughter in New Jersey

(A.) You are sensible about running away. It doesn't make sense. All teenagers should see that as clearly as you do.

Otherwise you haven't been very sensible, especially in staying out half the night. You could get hurt badly doing that.

Instead of yelling at each other, you and your mother should sit down each day and have reasonable, rational talks. Talk TO each other rather than AT each other.

SECRETARY MORTON . . . SLAPPED DOWN

(UPI)

Ford Not Satisfied on Gas Consumption

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gasoline consumption is 3 per cent lower than last year, but apparently that isn't enough for President Ford. His chief spokesman and his treasury secretary both said Wednesday that the attempts to reduce gasoline use have not been as successful as Ford wished.

Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton reported that gasoline consumption is about 3 per cent lower than last year and is now running about 17 million barrels a day.

Treasury Secretary William L. Simon said some of last winter's gasoline-saving measures such as no gas on Sundays or odd-and-even sale days may have to go back into effect after New Year's Day unless usage sharply declines.

"A return to allocation would mean gasoline stations would have less to sell," Simon told the Chicago Sun-Times.

He said that oil imports are running between 6.1 and 6.2 million barrels a day, while the goal is to hold imports to 5.4 million barrels daily to be less dependent on foreign sources.

Ford's press secretary, Ron Nessen, gave no figures, but said: "Progress toward reducing oil imports has not been as satisfactory as the President hoped for."

The only alternative to gas allocation, Simon said, would be a big increase in federal gasoline taxes. But Nessen said flatly, "The President is opposed to the gasoline tax and is not personally persuaded of the need for the gas tax."

Morton previously had suggested to reporters that he was interested in the possibility of a gasoline tax, but he was slapped down by the President himself, who said at a question and answer session in Phoenix that apparently his "good friend, the secretary of the interior" had not gotten the word that "we are not considering an increase in the gasoline tax."

Morton, head of the federal energy council and energy coordinator, said by the end of the month Ford's energy advisers would present to him a series of options on what to do about the supplies and that all avenues — taxes, rationing and import controls — would be explored.

Worst November for Car Sales Since 1959

DETROIT (UPI) — November new car sales were off 35 per cent from depressed levels of 1973 and provide further evidence of the deepening sales slump that will idle 215,000 auto workers by Christmas.

The reports from the four U.S. automakers Wednesday held out little hope for many out-of-work employees.

It was the worst November for the industry since 1959 with the exception of 1970, when a 67-day strike against General Motors hurt sales.

Deliveries last November already were off from 1972's record because of the Arab oil embargo.

This November deliveries of 505,511 cars marked a 13 per cent drop from October, when the 1975 models were introduced, and an 18 per cent decline from September, when buyers were looking for bargains on the last of the 1974 models.

Sales last November totaled 777,455 cars.

The lone bright spot in the sales reports was a gradual upward trend as the month progressed.

While the final 10 days were off 33.5 per cent from the comparable period last year, the daily rate of 20,220 cars compared with 21,121 cars a day in the mid-November period and 17,115 a day in early November — the lowest daily rate of 1974.

Ford Motor Co. figures showed a 34.5 per cent decline in November with sales for the final 10 days off 43.4 per cent.

215,600 More U.S. Jobless

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Unemployment insurance rolls swelled by 215,600 across the country in mid-November, the government said today.

The Labor Department statement painted more gloom on the nation's dark economic picture and official November unemployment figures, due Friday, are expected to hit their highest levels since 1961.

In today's report, Labor officials said 2,436,200 persons received unemployment insurance benefits for the week ended Nov. 16 — up 215,600 from the previous week.

Higher numbers were reported in 48 states and Washington, D.C.

The government predicted Wednesday the jobless rate for the nation will climb to a peak of more than 7 per cent by mid-1975.

On Capitol Hill, a House committee approved $2 billion for public service jobs. The administration said it is considering an income tax cut as a weapon against recession.

The inflation rate, which has been 12.2 per cent over the past 12 months, should ease to 6-7 per cent by spring, Chairman Alan Greenspan of the Council of Economic Advisers said.

He said there was a "very significant increase" in unemployment last month, but he gave no figures. The official statistics will be announced Friday.

Greenspan held a joint news conference with Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, who said an income tax cut was under study to combat recession.

Greenspan predicted unemployment would reach a peak of "something over 7 per cent" by the middle of next year. Other economists have predicted a top of about 8 per cent.

In other developments: —The Federal Power Commission approved an increase in natural gas prices Wednesday, which means gas bills for residential consumers will go up by 8 to 16 per cent within three years. The increases will vary from city to city.

—Car sales in November were off by 35 per cent.

Heavy Rains Lash Southern California

By UPI

Heavy rains and fierce winds lashed Southern California Wednesday in the area's worst storm of the season.

Eight inches of rain sent floodwaters swirling across streets and highways. Cars floated in water 10 feet deep on Los Angeles freeway ramps.

Roof drains clogged, causing a section of ceiling to collapse at Los Alamitos General Hospital's obstetrics and nursing wing. Jill Anne Christensen was born into the stormy environment of the hospital's waterlogged delivery room.

"Water was pouring through light fixtures and between the tiles and standing about two inches deep on the floor when she was born," the nursing supervisor said.

Six other babies and their mothers were evacuated through ankle-deep water to another section of the hospital. Residents in Carson and Lomita, Calif., fled their homes as water three to five feet deep rushed through the Los Angeles suburbs. Rowboats were dispatched to rescue Huntington Beach residents.

Rain and winds up to 60 miles per hour tore across mountainsides, loosening mud and rock slides. Winds gusted up to 66 m.p.h. near Lake Arrowhead in the San Bernardino Mountains.

Power failed in at least eight Southern California cities. Two television stations switched to emergency power to stay on the air.

The storm swept east into the Rocky Mountains late Wednesday, but light rain lingered over the area. An additional inch of rain hit San Diego, Calif., late Wednesday.

Travelers in the eastern mountains of Nevada and Utah were warned of heavy snow. Arizona posted a winter storm warning for its northern mountain areas. Heavy snow warnings went up for Colorado.

Light snow brushed the eastern states still shaking off the effects of a storm that stranded thousands of persons and was blamed for dozens of deaths.

Thousands of southwestern Pennsylvania homes hit by the weekend snowstorm were still without electric power.

The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission threatened to take action to force West Penn Power Co. to hire additional help to restore power.

"Thousands of people are going to be cold and without power again tonight because of this foot-dragging by the electric utility," Lt. Gov. Ernest Kline said.

Bill Would Forbid U.S. Funds to Enforce Busing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Wednesday passed a bill that Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger said would effectively bar his department from enforcing school desegregation under the 1964 civil rights act.

The measure would forbid use of new federal funds to enforce busing or re-assignment of students and teachers in order to desegregate schools.

Weinberger predicted that if the bill becomes law it is "certain to be presented to the courts."

The action came on a compromise HEW appropriations bill, which now goes back to the Senate for approval. The vote was 212 to 176.

The Senate version did not contain the anti-busing provision, sponsored by Rep. Marjorie Holt, R-Md.

In other developments Wednesday:

—The Senate voted 46 to 45 to approve a $2.7 billion foreign aid bill which would cut off military aid to Turkey unless there is progress by mid-February on Cyprus peace talks.

—Ways and Means Democrats rebelled against reform moves by the new and more liberal Democratic caucus by insisting on organizing subcommittees now, rather than waiting until January when that power goes to the caucus.

—The House voted to force President Ford to spend $540 million of the $657.6 million he wanted to cut from his budget. It was the first use of the impoundment control act Congress passed earlier this year to prevent a president from refusing to spend appropriated money.

—Ford formally asked Congress to spend the $813.7 million needed to finance the veterans benefits bill it passed over his veto Tuesday.

Clerides to Turn Over Reins

NICOSIA (UPI) — Acting Cypriot President Glafkos Clerides prepared today to hand over the reins of government to Archbishop Makarios on his arrival to the war-torn island, a government spokesman said.

Makarios was ousted as president last summer in a military coup and forced into exile.

Clerides met with the ministers and ambassadors of his four-month-old government and worked "signing papers and at other ministerial duties so he can clean up the affairs of office before the Archbishop returns," a government spokesman said.

Clerides "will give up his power to the Archbishop and return to his old post," the spokesman said.
